The Stirling team had played against Frankford, Marmora, Madoc, Tanberry and Cooper in the regular season play. The team is coached by Brian Finnigan and Lyle Hay, and is sponsored by Doug Ackers Fuels, Bernard Farrell is the manager of the team. Doug Andrews was home plate umpire for the game.

Members of the girls' team are Margaret Bateman, Susan Wright

Shelly Farrell, Brenda Hay, Cheryl Haggerty, Kelly Dobson, Caroline Richardson, Kathy White, Pearl Hum, Virginia Pollock, Julie Hunter, and June Watson.

After the game, the Cooper and Stirling girls were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Ackers for refreshments and hot dogs. The girls would like to thank all those who showed their support during the season and particularly on Sunday afternoon. Thanks is also extended to the Stirling Volunteer Fire Department for their sponsorship of the junior girls softball team which played some exhibition games. Chamber of Commerce sets store hours

Christmas store hours and a project to promote Stirling were the main items approved by the Chamber of Commerce, meeting in evening session last Thursday at St. John's Anglican Church.

An excellent turnout heard suggestions for the usual additional opening time for shoppers' convenience during the last two weeks before Christmas.

The approved schedule is as follows: Thanksgiving, October 11, closed all day; Remembrance Day, November 11, closed from 10 a.m. to 12 noon; December 6, 13 and 14 - open until 6 p.m.; 15-16-17 open until 9 p.m.; 18th - open until 6 p.m.; Dec. 20 - 23 open until 9 p.m.; December 24, closing at 6 p.m.; December 28-29 open as usual, December 30, open until 9 p.m.; December 31, closing at 6 p.m.

Stores will resume regular Monday closing and return to the usual hours of business beginning January 3. Advertisements outlining these hours will be published in the Stirling News-Argus later in the fall season to fully acquaint shoppers with the extra time available to them.

A committee meeting this week will attempt to come up with a scheme of some nature to promote the village. While details of the scheme are not detailed yet, the general plan is to hold a draw with merchants footing the whole cost, with the winner to receive a suitable trip for two. Tickets would be given out to customers based on a sale value.

The general feeling of the membership present was that there seems to be interest in such events, and if it will promote the village and area, then something of this nature would be of great value. The project will be open only to paid up members of the Chamber.

GREETING ROTARY DISTRICT GOVERNOR

Rotary governor makes official visit

Mike Lipski, 1971-72 Governor of Rotary District 701, on Tuesday, September 28 addressed the Rotary Club of Stirling on the occasion of his official visit.

Mr. Lipski, who was making his sixteenth official visit since his term commenced on July 1st, used the theme of this year's International President which is "Goodwill," to demonstrate the need for internal and public relations to maintain the strength of a service organization within the community.

"Goodwill is an essential motivating power behind everything we do," he said, "and if you have a desire to serve, you will at the same time be motivated by goodwill."

"Any international organization will be rated in history according to its accomplishments," said the governor, "and only those based on service in the past have survived. It is not necessarily the number of men in a club, but the spirit, which makes it survive."

"May I close with these few words from the prayer, of St. Francis of Assisi, which says all that I want to say to you, but so much better than I have the ability to express. 'Lord make us a channel of thy peace: That where there is conflict, may we bring harmony. That where there is sadness, may we bring joy. That where there is error, may we bring truth. That where there is hatred, may we bring love. That where there is doubt, may we bring faith. That where there are shadows, may we bring light. God bless you, and may peace be with you, this day and always.'"

Mr. Lipski is the Terminal Traffic Manager for Canadian National Railways in Gravenhurst Ontario where he holds executive positions involving civic, youth, and church organizations.

Spring Brook site of Orange rally

A very successful Orange Rally sponsored by the Centre Hastings County L.O.L. was held Saturday night at Spring Brook. The second such event, it attracted a slightly larger crowd than in 1970, and from the enthusiastic response, it was announced as a continuing annual event.

Principal speaker for the evening was James Breen, Grand Master of the Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East. Taking as his topic, Orangeism, he defined the principles for which the Order has stood since being founded in Canada about 1800, and the formation of the Grand Lodge of Canada in 1830.

which have tried to make two languages do and have had difficulties without number.

Dwelling briefly on the separate school issue, Breen pointed out that each member and non-member had a duty to try and prevent this ad being extended past Grade 10. He noted the lack of education calibre in the separate schools, and also that more and more parents were removing their children from separate schools and enrolling them in the public school.

His principal concern was the indifference of Canadians generally, and Protestants in particular, toward the continual erosion of the things once taken for granted - principally, reference to the Monarchy in speeches from the Throne, and other British heritage connections. He pointed out that this creeping towards republicanism is something that is being constantly and subtly put to the Canadian people, and unless they realize what is being done, all other evidences of the British system may be swept away before anything can be done.

Stressing the unity issue in both Canada and Ontario, he noted that two official languages tend to divide, rather than unite.

"No other country that has two official languages can ever unite," he commented and cited several European countries

Bishop to visit St. John's, Stirling

Bishop Creighton, prior to his election and consecration as bishop, was for many years rector of Christ Church, Belleville. In his early ministry he served many churches in the area; Bancroft, Queensboro, Bonarlaw and Rawdon.

Senior Citizens work and play

Last week, the Senior Citizens catered for a noon meal to a group of Senior Citizens from Willowdale, who were on a color tour. About 50 of them enjoyed a turkey dinner with dressing, vegetables, salads and a variety of pies that our girls whipped up under the very capable leadership of Lil Heasman. The group was high in its praise and we were happy too, for we need the money. They continued on their tour about 2 p.m., and our local group carried on with its regular meeting. Fred Heasman, president, was so busy crowding about winning a game that he almost forgot to thank Amy Schram, Annie Faulkner and Helen Williams for the nice lunch they had served. We are looking forward to the color tour on the 5th. Our next meeting will be on October 7. We hope for a good attendance for this will be our annual meeting. When reports will be given and the various offices either re-elected or fired.

A STIRLING AREA man was hospitalized over the weekend, when the car he was driving was involved in a single vehicle accident Sunday evening. Gordon Barry Morton, R.R. 5, Stirling, was reported in fair condition in Belleville General Hospital. He suffered head injuries in the mishap, which occurred about three miles north of Frankford. It is reported that a front tire on the car blew, causing the driver to lose control.

CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS for the village will again be erected by the Chamber of Commerce. David Giddon is chairman of the committee, with Eugene Burrell and Rudy Klompfner assisting.

SANTA'S OFFICIAL visit to Stirling this year will coincide with the Belleville Santa Claus Parade. The village event will be held the afternoon of the city's morning parade.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

Grading and fill work has been completed at the village dump, and conditions are still similar to those approved by the Dept. of Energy and Resources for dump use. It is anticipated another inspection may be made soon.

Council authorized the hiring of Hadley Richardson to repair wiring at the Cenotaph prior to installation of new lights.

Approval was received from the Department of Financial and Commercial Affairs to use the new sale agreement form for the purchase of cemetery plots.

In order to compile pertinent data about building in the region, council has been asked to forward a copy of the monthly building permit report to the newly-formed Quinte Planning Board.

Reservations were approved to be sent for the annual Good Roads Convention to be held in Toronto on February 21-23.

A deposit cheque of the H.J. McFarland Construction Company was ordered returned, despite the fact the work was not completed within the specified time.

Councillor Edward Klompfner was authorized to proceed with necessary road repairs in the cemetery. He reported that some of the conditions were quite rough. It is estimated that up to $500 may be needed to complete this work.

WEEKLY REPORT
FROM

FOXBORO DISTRICT

(BY JACK WOOD)

Milk Equipment Maintenance

Every year we write a column on keeping your milking machine in good working order. We get enough calls from dairymen about their equipment every year, that it bears repeating if it will help to prevent problems.

Here are some things you should look for when checking over your milker system:

You might begin with the pulsator. When they get dirty or worn, improper inflation on the cow's teat could result in permanent injury to delicate tissues and orifices of the udder and teats... a sure invitation for bacteria.

Have you added extra milking units lately? Too often dairymen find that the vacuum pump can not move air rapidly enough from a system.

Rebekahs hold meeting

A good number of members were welcomed by the Noble Grand, Sister Kathleen McMullen, when she presided over the regular meeting of Laurel Rebekah Lodge No. 211, in the IOOF Temple, Stirling.

Sister Madeline Walker, Vice Grand, reported that flowers had been sent to several sisters who have been ill.

A letter from the District Deputy President, Sister Ruth Jardine, was read, advising Laurel that their Installation Ceremony would be held on Tuesday, October 12. There was a letter of invitation from Brighton Lodge of Brighton to Laurel advising of their Harvest Tea and asking our Noble Grand to assist in pouring tea.

The usual donation was made to the Institute for the Blind.

A discussion regarding our Birthday Party in November was held and it was decided to ask the same group as last year to convene the dinner. Sister Kathleen McMullen, Noble Grand, will be convener of the program.

The Noble Grand reported on an interesting trip to visit the IOOF and Rebekah Home in Barrie. Port Perry Lodge was hostess on the return trip home and supplied a delightful supper.

Sister Patricia Merrill, PNG asked for a short practice for the officers and guard of honor to prepare for the Installation Ceremonies.

Coffee and cookies were served after practice.

Vacuum controllers or regulators are expected to maintain the same vacuum level, regardless of whether the machines are all in use or not. When the controllers become worn or sticky or are too small, the vacuum may vary from 6 to 20 inches. This tends to upset the cows, and they tend to reduce their production. A competent serviceman can check the vacuum controller for you.

Small vacuum lines, too many turns, or too many fittings can reduce the amount of air your vacuum pump can remove. Take a look at your vacuum pipeline - can you improve the layout - will large lines improve the operation?

Have your servicemen check the lines for dirt, milk solids, hair and other debris, and clean them out where necessary. Check for leaks also.

Keep the vacuum pump oil level up, and use only the oil recommended by the manufacturer. Change the oil regularly, and flush rotary and piston pumps with a solvent, or as recommended by the manufacturer. Keep pulleys and belts free of dust and oil.

He's Always Happy

This happy baby is Timmy, eight months old. Canadian Negro in descent, he is a sturdy boy with beautiful big hair which is beginning to curl. His health is good, apart from a tendency to colds.

Timmy is a cuddly, lovable, good-natured baby. His foster mother says if he isn't smiling he's laughing. If he cries she knows something is really distressing him. He's a good eater and he sleeps well. Timmy isn't crawling yet, but he gets around with considerable speed by lying on his tummy and pulling himself along the floor with his arms.

Other children are a delight to Timmy and he is used to being with them. Young as he is, he's learning to play ball by rolling it with a pair of toddlers in his foster home.

Timmy likes people and has never been shy, though he looks strangers over for a minute or two before deciding to be friends.

This baby needs parents who will appreciate a lively, sunny-tempered young son. To inquire about adopting Timmy, please write to Today's Child, Department of Social and Family Services, Parliament Buildings, Toronto 182. For general adoption information, ask your Children's Aid Society.

Lagoon problem to be studiedTen years of muck and mire laying in the ditches at the sewage lagoon is posing a major headache for Stirling Village Council.Reeve Robert Anderson reported at the meeting Monday night that he had been approached in the spring to get council'sassistance in repairing a road that was flooding as a result of water from the lagoon.The reeve said he visited the location and saw that it would take more than the original "two loads of gravel," so he had to come back to council for more authorization.

The basic problem is that the ditch from the lagoon is partially full of 10-years' accumulation of sediment, and the only way to clean this is with a bucket fitted on an extendable arm. The man-made dyke will not likely hold the truck and whether easy access to the ditch can be otherwise obtained is to be determined.The council agreed to contact McFarland Construction to have them survey the situation and recommend what might be done.Parking still being discussedDuring the discussion, it was noted that while more actual parking area may be needed, it also appears that a general revision of the parking situation is required. This committee will also pursue this matter, to try and bring in recommendations to council that will provide the most adequate parking facilities, and at the same time ensure that the travelling public is not inconvenienced.The Stirling Chamber of Commerce will meet with council soon to try and assist with the purchase of land in mid-village to try and alleviate the parking situation.A committee under the chairmanship of David Duffin, reported at last week's meeting that the Tockley old mill property on Mill Street, possibly could be purchased through negotiation with the owner, and recommended that consultations be held with council at the earliest opportunity to pursue this matter. Further, the membership endorsed a recommendation that, if deemed necessary by council, the Chamber would put up the deposit to take an option on the property, possibly for as long as six months.Drug essay cost of $335,000.Mr. Auld said that the building has been designed by Public Works architects for the Department of Education to replace the old residence which as served for many years as the school infirmary. The Minister added that the new facilities will provide two main areas of completely modern infirmary operation.The first, for resident students requiring nursing care, will accommodate a total of 26 in nine tached, and an adjacent day room, nursing station and kitchen ser-

very.The second area, for out-patients, will consist of examination rooms and offices for the school doctor and dentist and specialists who visit regularly.
The new infirmary, occupying 9,840 square feet, of gross floor area, will be connected to theexisting junior school residence for direct, sheltered access by the youngest children in need of therapy. Seriously ill children will be transferred to the Belleville General Hospital.Specifications call for a single storey building with concrete block foundation, masonry veneer walls, wood roof joists, and steelframing. Interior partitions will be wood stud with dry wall finish, and interior ceilings acoustic tile or painted dry wall. Floors will be concrete at grade with vinyl asbestos tile or carpeting.
A hot water heating system with mechanical ventilation will be connected with the existing school
central heating system.Counterfeit bills soughtThe counterfeit and forgery ac-

Let's Use the Schools

Stirling has every right to be proud of its Community School Association.

Acting on a voluntary basis, this group of civic-minded citizens has done a great deal to make local schools the community centres they ought to be.

Beginning last fall, with no experience behind them, the association accepted the challenge tossed out by the Hastings County board of education to organize after-school activities for the community as a whole.

Within a remarkably short period of time, the association had conducted a survey of the types of activities desired by area residents and instituted a very adequate first-year program.

The success of the 1970-71 activities prompted David Smith, co-ordinator of community schools for the Hastings County board of education, to describe Stirling's program as a model for the whole county.

"I think the program here has really been great," he told the association at its first fall meeting last month.

Not satisfied to leave things at last year's level, the 1971-72 group is making plans for a greatly expanded program for the coming year. Several new activities have been added which should appeal to an even wider cross section of the population of Stirling and surrounding district.

We long have felt it was a pity to have school facilities used only during the relatively short periods required for regular day classes. It is to the credit of the county board of education that the schools have been made available, at no cost, for use not only by young people but by adults who helped foot the bill for the facilities in the first place.

We like this new emphasis -- namely, that schools are for the use of ALL the people. Let's use them to the maximum.

The other day I went out behind our place in the city in the mellow autumn sunshine, and was reminded of all the things I said last spring that I was going to do in the summer.

The walk from our back door to the back yard is narrow, between our house and the one next door. At the corner I ran into our veritable jungle of snowball trees.

In the early summer when the snowball trees were beautiful, I had said, "As soon as the blooms are gone, I'll cut them back so that we can get past without looking like convicts escaping through a swamp."

Now, by holding back the unpruned branches and bending low, I was able to make the turn -- like a convict escaping through a swamp.

Someone else not quite as nimble as I (if such a thing is possible) had knocked some stones off the little fence there. I leaned and replaced them. In the spring I had said, "Some day I'm going to mix a rough mortar and fix that fence."

The barbecue had been pushed in close against the house to save it from the rain. The bowl had an inch of rusty water in it. "I will empty that," I thought, but did not.

The green plastic hose that ran from the tap out there was draped across the barbecue. I often think about that hose. I design, in my mind, retractable hose systems that, once they have watered the lawn, shoot back into the holes like dew worms. But this time, as usual, I just looked at it and left it.

The big box of tent poles and pegs that I had leaned against the back basement door in July to make room in the car trunk for other stuff we were taking to the farm, was still leaning against the back basement door.

That door opens to a few wooden steps running down to the basement level. These steps are covered by a veritable pile. On the inside wall hang tools that I have put there through the years, meaning to carry them down to the basement, or out to the garden, depending on the season. The vestibule roof is flat and made of metal. Projecting from the roof was the frame that goes into the aluminum back door in the winter, when the screens come out. The glass in this frame broke last spring when the door slammed.

I have been saying all summer that I will telephone and get the aluminum door people to come and replace the glass.

We have a white wooden fence around the back garden. Rust streaks run down the white gatepost from a catch that I did not know would rust when I bought it. I have known for two years now that it rusts and intend some day to buy another one that does not rust.

The rock garden looked like a jungle. Everything grows beautifully in there except our one rhubarb root, which yields us an annual harvest of about 1½ cups of rhubarb. "We are going to have to plow up that rock garden some day," I said to myself, as I do every time I pass by.

Our roses grew well this year. They are not my responsibility. I went over to have a look at our annual sweet pea crop -- which even in June looks like an unravelled hemp door mat, and is worse in September.

The table which is part of our lawn umbrella assembly is rusted a little through the white paint at one edge. The water always runs down to that one side because I did not put the lawn table up on the level.

"We must paint that table top some day," I remarked to my wife, who had appeared beside me.

"We'll paint it in the winter time," she said, and we both laughed for several minutes and then opened lawn chairs, and I got drinks, and we sat and looked at the misty blue sky of the gone summer.

A Weekly Meditation

By REV. C.F. STAPLES
St. John's Anglican Church

This coming weekend marks our National Thanksgiving. If one wanted to be cynical, it would be easy to ask what is there in our national life and in our country that would encourage a person to be thankful. There seems to be so many national crises; unemployment, the high cost of living, violence everywhere, even in our personal lives. Such cynicism would be easy if we were that kind of people. But we are not fatalists.

For the most part, we live thankful lives, appreciating wholesome simple pleasures, like having friendly neighbors who help out in times of need or like, being glad when the crop has been good or the cattle have stayed healthy. These simple values have been our heritage over the years. It is a question whether they will continue to be the things we value in the future.

This concern is also true about our relationship to God. Our basic heritage has taught us to believe in God -- as Creator of the universe, as the One who brings reconciliation and forgiveness into our personal life and as the Source of love. It is now a grave question as to whether this basic religious faith is held in any significant way by the majority of people.

The loss of faith by other people should not necessarily weaken another person's faith, but should deepen it, clarify it and yes, strengthen it. How?

Earlier I spoke of how easy it is to be cynical and fatalistic. It is also easy to lose faith. All one needs to do is dwell upon the problems of life and the weight of them simply destroys whatever optimism or hope one might have. In 1 Peter 1:3, we are reminded that by his great mercy we have been born anew to a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead. A living hope can arouse a passion for the possible. It encourages us to hold a bright view of the future. Hope tells us that the gifts of life are from the Giver of life and that He will not be separated from the gifts he gives nor from those who are willing to receive His gifts. Hope then directs us to the source of all living, not to the problems of living.

Rev. J. P. D. Knox will preach in the Methodist Church in this village on Sunday next. He intends leaving for his home in British Columbia next week.

The dwelling house of Mr. Bidwell Williams, north half of lot 23 in the 2nd con. of Rawdon was completely destroyed by fire on Monday evening last, together with nearly all the contents. The fire started while the members of the family were out milking. The loss is considerable. No insurance.

A serious runaway occurred at the Fair Grounds about noon on Tuesday. A Mr. Foster and a Mr. Clare, of Moira, drove inside the gate, when Mr. Foster stepped from the carriage to secure some tickets, leaving Mr. Clare to hold the team. They became frightened and made a dash for liberty, striking the corner of the shed and loosening one trace. They ran towards the race track, and when going up the hill the tongue dropped and was driven into the hard ground a distance, by actual measurement, of 3 feet 3 inches. Mr. Clare was hurled from the carriage a distance of 15 feet ahead of it, landed on his feet, but fell backwards and severely injured his back. He was brought to the Kerby House and medical aid summoned. The team was caught without doing any further damage. Mr. Clare was so far recovered on Wednesday to allow being removed to his home.

On Wednesday evening last a large crowd of invited guests present at the home of Mr. Jas. Dunning, in Huntingdon, to witness the marriage of his eldest daughter, Bella, to Wm. Alfred Reid, of Rawdon. The ceremony was performed in the large double sitting-room at 7:30 o'clock, by Rev. Mr. Adamson, of Toronto. The bride was assisted by her cousin, Miss Blanche Green, of Campbellford, and the groom by Mr. Thos. W. Dunning.

Inspector McClellan, of the Ontario Department of Education, Toronto, made his official inspection of the local High School this week.

In the first game of the Inter-scholastic Rugby League, Stirling defeated the Madoc gridlers by a score of 18-1 on the local school campus on Friday last. The locals defeated the visitors in all departments of the game with John Lanigan, with his shifty running, and Grant Stapley, with his plunging, starring in the backfield and accounting for the most of the locals' points. Benny Mann handled the team well from the quarterback position and the wing-line also played a strong game.

On Thursday night, Rt. Ex. Companion James Pow, Trenton, Grand Superintendent of Prince Edward District Royal Arch Masons, made his official visit to Keystone Chapter, No. 72, Stirling.

The Anniversary Services of Carmel Church of the Stirling Pastoral Charge were held morning and evening last Sunday with The Reverend Noble Hutton, B. A., of Trinity Church, Napesee, occupying the pulpit. The church was crowded morning and evening as friends and members of other days from far and near gathered with the present members and adherents to celebrate the Anniversary occasion.

Big attendance at Ont. museums

The Hon. Fern Gindon, Ontario's Minister of Tourism and Information and Public Records and Archives, announced today that 1970 had seen the province's museums maintain their annual record breaking attendance, receiving over 7,000,000 visits.

Mr. Gindon said: "My department, which, through the Museums Section of the Historical Branch is able to assist many of these local institutions, is extremely encouraged with the continuing high rate of attendance. It is proof both to the government and to our citizens that history and the conservation of our historical heritage has come into its own and deserves our hearty support."

Ontario has about 215 museums many of these owned and operated by local municipalities, conservation authorities, Indian Band Councils, historical societies, private citizens and other groups. The Minister paid particular tribute to these local institutions and said: "We are happy to be a part of this growing movement to preserve our past through the modest assistance we can give to local museums. However, it is mainly through the efforts of many of our interested citizens that these institutions can function so efficiently in presenting the different facets of their past. Without these devoted persons much of the tangible evidence of Ontario's historical heritage would be lost for future generations."

It is of interest to note that over twenty historical attractions and museums are operated by the provincial government and twelve by the federal authorities.

The Minister continued, "while it is true that the government has invested millions of dollars in such fine historical attractions as Upper Canada Village and Sainte-Marie among the Hurons, and is presently engaged on the reconstruction of Fort William, without the unselfish efforts of a large number of private citizens who run local museums, the quality of life in Ontario would be very much poorer."

The province, through the Department of Public Records and Archives, administers a programme of grants to museums that totals about $96,000 annually and provides expert technical advice on organization, display, etc. Mr. Gindon, in closing, noted "my department's programme of assistance to local museums, while modest owing to stringent budget restrictions, is undoubtedly having the desired effects.

It is hoped that we can continue to improve the service to these institutions in the coming year, and thereby help institutions that not only contribute from an educational, cultural and aesthetic point of view, but play a significant role in attracting visitors to Ontario."

Harold Wells of Well's Ford Mercury Sales, presents to Mr. Stewart McArthur of Stirling, the keys to his new 1972 Ford car. This is the 20th Ford car that Mr. McArthur has purchased from this firm for his personal use.

ONTARIO

Important message to Ontario residents aged 65 and over

On January 1, 1972, hospital and medical insurance premium payments will be abolished for all residents of Ontario 65 years of age and over. This is in keeping with recently announced Ontario Government policy.

This policy will apply to the age of the certificate holder and will include coverage for eligible dependents. Premium-free coverage becomes effective on the first of the month during which a resident becomes 65.

HOW IT WILL WORK

Under the new plan combined coverage will be continued under the resident's present Ontario Hospital Insurance number. The OHSP billing system will be discontinued. All residents 65 or over who remit Ontario Hospital Insurance premiums on a pay-direct basis will be requested to complete a premium exemption application.

As the insurance records do not identify those who will be eligible for premium-free coverage, the application, when received, should be completed by those 65 and over and returned as soon as possible in the envelope which will be provided.

If you qualify and have already paid premiums to cover benefits after January 1, 1972, a refund will be made for the over-payment.

Unfortunately, until exemption applications are processed we cannot avoid routine mailing of normal premium notices. However, residents 65 or over should not be concerned. If the notice applies entirely to coverage in 1972, please hold it until the application for free coverage is received.

IF YOU PAY YOUR PREMIUMS THROUGH A GROUP

Persons enrolled in groups will be reported to us by the group and transferred to our "Premium Exemption" file.

Groups will be fully informed about this in the near future.

Pyear - Graff

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Pyear were married Aug. 21, 1971 in a double-ring ceremony in St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, Perth, Ontario.

The bride, the former Betty Caroline Graff, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil W. Graff, 85 Dufferin St., Perth, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Pyear, Stirling, Ontario. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire gown of white tulle with matching coat of chantilly lace. A nine-foot veil, falling from a headpiece of pearls, completed her ensemble. She carried a cascade of white roses and gladioli.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Carol McDonald as matron of honor, Mrs. James Graff, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Holly Goodison. They were gowned alike in blue flowered pant dresses and carried white gladioli. The groom was attended by his brother Leslie Pyear as best man, and Duane Pyear and James Graff were ushers.

A reception was held at the Links O'Ray Golf and Country Club, after which the young couple went on a wedding trip to western Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. Pyear have taken up residence in Kingston where Betty has accepted a position on the staff at Queen's University and Barry is studying for his Bachelor of Education at McArthur College.

Before the wedding, Betty was guest of honor at a bachelorette party, where she received many beautiful and useful gifts.

DOLLARS AND GOOD SENSE

by William J. Martin
We've all heard how the young people are taking over these days. Did you know that the number of young families is now about one-fifth of the total households in the U.S. and in the next decade will increase to one-third?

The rising importance of the young will have significant consequences for a wide range of consumer industries. Not only will it affect the level of demand, but also the design and quality of products as well as the advertising messages.

The coming generation will be better schooled and more prosperous than ever before. By 1980, one out of every three U.S. adults under 35 will have had at least some college training and partly because of this increased education, three-fifths of all families under 35 will have purchasing power equal to at least $10,000 per year at today's standards. Consumer spending will definitely take on a younger look in the 70's. Today, about 25% of the nation's total family income is earned by families whose head is under 35. By 1980, that figure should top 40%, according to the U.S. Department of Commerce.

In case you're wondering, the medium family income in the U.S. in 1969, the last year for which information is available, was $9,400. That figure is triple the total of just 12 years earlier.

In that year the mean income rose from $6,686 for households in which the head was under 25 years of age to $12,182 for households headed by a person between 45 and 54 years of age. It then declined to $5,196 for households in which the head was 65 years of age or over.

By mean income, I mean the average income among the total group, whereas medium income is defined as the middle figure of all the incomes within the group.

Families headed by females in the U.S. had a medium income of $4,822 in 1969, less than half the $9,965 for families headed by males.

Speaking of incomes, do you know what an hour of your time is worth? Based on a 244 8-hour working days a year, it's worth $5.12 if your income is $10,000 per year. That's 8.52 cents per minute. In a year, that one hour per day is worth $1,250. Think about it.

Action speaks louder than words.

Nobody's saying that words aren't important.

Dialogue is, after all, pretty central to our notion of democracy. People talk to other people, and listen to other people talk about the changes that could or should happen to our society.

But there's something else that's pretty central to our notion of democracy, and that's leadership. One person must act when all has been said. One person must speak for us. One person must listen, and very carefully, when there are difficult decisions to be made.

Bill Davis is not new to the challenge of leadership. During his seven months as Premier, he has acted to stimulate our economy, to create opportunities for Canadians and for Canadian enterprise. He has acted on a wide front to clean up our environment—air, land and water. He has acted to expand and up-grade a variety of government services, from day care centres to free medicare for those 65 and over. In all, more than 130 pieces of legislation have been introduced, debated, and made law in those seven short months.

In the course of the present election campaign, Bill Davis continues to listen and speak out, but his promises are few. Our economy can ill afford the tax increases to which others have freely committed themselves.

We may be sure that when action is called for, he will be both wise and decisive.

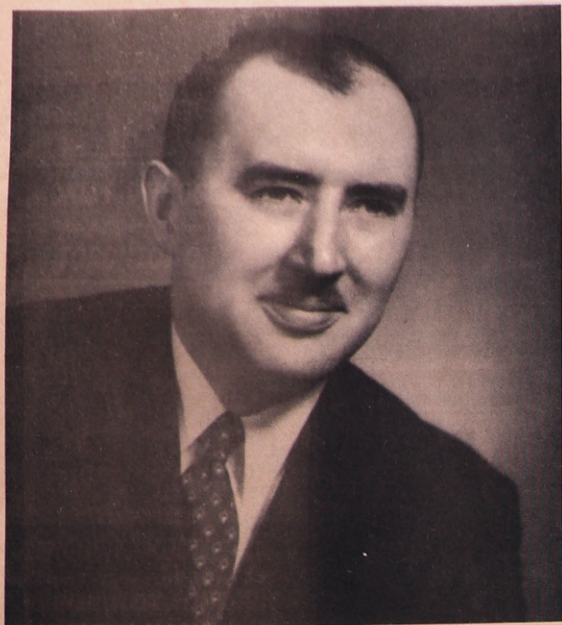

In what he has already done is the true promise of what is to come from the leadership of Bill Davis.

Inserted by the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association.

Davis is doing things...for people.
He listens, he understands, he acts.

Mr. G. H. Hogle, President,
The Hogle Funeral Home,
87 James Street,
Stirling, Ontario.

October 7, 1971.

Dear Dad:

Just forty years ago this week, Dad, you came to the town of Mimico as a single man and set up practice as a funeral director. That business which was founded by you, and still proudly bears your name, has become synonymous with quality funerals of dignity in the Lakeshore community, and still is operated by the same family under the direction of your eldest son.

Some six years ago you decided to take life a little easier and semi-retired to the town of Stirling, Ontario, to operate business on a smaller scale there. However, over the intervening years, you have raised three sons, taught them the skills and workmanship of your chosen profession and given them all a good start in life, each of them in their own funeral business.

Our purpose in writing to you, Dad, is to publicly say "thank you" for your wisdom, your generosity and your continued support; as well as to remind all your many friends in the Lakeshore area that it is forty years ago this week since you started in business. Nothing is more obvious to us than the fact of how highly thought of, and respected, you have become to the citizens of this community. We are constantly being reminded of the very dedicated and personal service that you rendered to so many families while performing your duties on their behalf. You certainly are missed by many here as is evident by those who ask after you. Nevertheless, it is our intention, as your sons, to continue that same personalized and dignified quality of service in our respective businesses, and therefore honour and revere the good name which has become our heritage.

There is a saying, Dad, that "life begins at forty". In a sense, we very much hope this is true for you, and that in the not too distant future, Dad, we can say — "it's now fifty years ago".

We know you're going to get a shock when you see his page, Dad, but it all adds up to . . .

"THANK YOU VERY, VERY MUCH".

Sincerely,

Harvey, Morley and Glencoe

Ducks Unlimited

MALLARD (Anas Platyrhynchos)

Most plentiful North-American duck. Wide ranging and adaptable, found in the nesting season from southern Alaska south to northern California, eastward throughout the prairie provinces and north-central states, becoming less common east of the Great Lakes where it is replaced by the closely related black duck. Nests on dry land in grass or base of shrubbery and generally, but not always, near water. Nest boxes are accepted. In flooded woodlands tree stubs are used and in some instances, old crow or hawk nests are utilized, the ducklings jumping and tumbling to the ground or water, where they are collected by the female.

A FORUM ABOUT MATURE WOMEN

Financial Advice
Dear Margaret Brookfield:
Would you have some advice for a retired woman with $5,000 to invest, who's interested in a safe return on her money.
K. H., Brooklyn, N.Y.

Dear K. H.:
Unfortunately, we're not in a position to provide financial advice to our readers. We suggest, however, that they never leave hard cash in the mattress. It can only lead to sleepless nights.

Restless and Jumpy

Dear Margaret Brookfield:
I am 48. While I look and feel younger most of the time, it's still traumatic to realize suddenly that you've passed the midpoint of your life. I used to be an even-tempered person, but now find myself irritable, depressed, restless and jumpy at times. At other times, I'm just like my old self. Although I have an appointment for a check-up soon with my doctor, I'm not sure if my problems are physical or psychological.
B. K., Dallas, Tex.

Dear B.K.:
The middle years of a woman's life can be a time of fewer responsibilities and greater freedom if she wants to take advantage of them. And if she takes good care of herself and her health, she can look forward to a productive second life after forty. A physical checkup therefore is always a good idea and having one regularly, an even better one. Should your doctor find an estrogen deficiency at the root of your problems—as is often the case with women in your age group—he might prescribe hormone replacements to restore the necessary balance. And when a woman feels better physically, she generally feels better psychologically too.

Homesick Husband
Dear Margaret Brookfield:
I am 73 and married for just a year to a man of 65. Since then, he has left me four times and come back home. I married for company, but I'm always alone now anyhow. Please advise what I can say to him so he gets some sense in his thick head.
E. L., Newfoundland, Canada

Dear E.L.:
The chances of your husband's settling down at this point don't seem very promising. Perhaps the best thing you can say, under the circumstances, is "Good-bye."
Dear Margaret Brookfield:
My son just got out of the Navy and came home with a terrible tattoo of a dumb-looking dancing girl on his arm. He says he was drunk at the time and doesn't recall having it done. My son doesn't like the tattoo any better than I do, but thinks he's stuck with it for life. Is there anything he can do about it now?
P.R., Lexington, KY.

Dear P.R.:
Effective techniques have been developed for removing tattoos by desensitizing and abrading the skin, then treating it to prevent infection. Needless to say, such treatments require the efforts of a skilled dermatologist. And they add up to a lot more time and money than getting tattooed in the first place.
Dear Margaret Brookfield:
I am 65 years old. My mother who's 85 has been living with my husband, age 69 and myself for the last 25 years. (We have no children). Thus far the three of us generally have had a very good life, although there have been some rough spots. Mother has a heart condition, cataracts and her legs are bothering her. In spite of this, she still does all the cooking at our house, as she always has. (Cooking is one task I abhor). For the past several months, I've become troubled about how I'll be able to cope when mother is no longer able to do the cooking. Then it will be up to me to take care of that, plus all the household chores and other necessities. Housework or any hard work for that matter has never bothered me before, but lately this concern is growing out of proportion. Try as I might, I cannot dismiss these gnawing thoughts from my mind. For the present, mother is still very self-reliant. She's the sweetest and dearest person and I love her better than life itself. She has always done everything to make us comfortable and happy. We've tried and I believe we've made her life as pleasant as she has made ours. I keep telling myself I have a good husband, a wonderful mother, a nice home, pretty clothes, a car, many friends and we get along fairly well on the money from our pensions and social security. But thoughts of the future make me shudder as I wonder how I'll be able to cope with problems that are bound to crop up. I know that my concern is worrying both my husband and my mother. What can I do?

J.S. Cicero, Ill.

Dear J.S.:

You've been fortunate in having the kind of life you've wanted all these years. But life is not static and circumstances do change. One practical way you might prepare for the future is by helping your mother in the kitchen from time to time. With all the convenience foods available today, whipping up an edible meal has become as easy as pie. And if you're feeling particularly ambitious, check the cookbook shelf at your local library and come up with a special dish. Or you might ask your mother to teach you some of her favorite recipes.

As we mark the second anniversary of the U.S. Truth-in-Lending Act, I thought it would be interesting to report to you on the results of a recent Federal Trade Commission survey.

Five classes of retailers were checked for their compliance with the legislation -- new and used automobile dealers, home improvement concerns, television and appliance dealers, furniture and jewelry stores.

As most of you are probably aware, the truth-in-lending law, which became effective in the U.S. on July 1, 1969, requires consumer borrowers to disclose to lenders their finance charges in dollars and cents and as an annual percentage rate.

In the FTC survey, 86% of the creditors checked were at least in "substantial compliance" with the law. This is to mean that these merchants were using the proper terms in disclosing the annual percentage rate and finance charge, although some of the technical requirements were not fully complied with by some.

Total compliance was recorded by 69%, but 14% were listed as being in serious violation of the law. The worst records were among jewelry stores and used car dealers.

For jewelry stores, only about half were found to be in total compliance, while over 37% were listed as being in serious violation of the law. Among car dealers with annual sales of less than $100,000 a year (a group car dealers only 40% were in total compliance, and 33% in serious violation).

Despite the performance of the used car dealers, automobile dealers as a whole score highest, over 75% in total compliance with the law.

The legislation is a landmark for the U.S. consumer, and the FTC said the results of the survey are very encouraging.

Pictured above are two of the behind-the-scenes people responsible for the success of CBC-TV's flagship information series, Weekend, telecast from 10 to 11 p.m. Sundays. Executive producer Richard Nielsen (left) and senior producer Peter Kappeler contribute much of the journalistic expertise and editorial judgement that has made the series, in the words of Knowlton Nash, "the most provocative but responsible program of its type". Weekend is now in its third season on CBC television.

LIMITED TIME ONLY!

1972 Chevrolets — Oldsmobiles now available for instant delivery at 1971 prices

HURRY (Hurry, hurry, hurry)

It won't last forever, but right now is a fantastic time to buy a new 1972 Chevrolet, Chevelle, Monte Carlo, Nova, Vega, Camaro, Cutlass or Oldsmobile. President Nixon's price freeze stopped the price increase that was on the way (an average of $175. per car). But it didn't stop the cars! To our surprise and delight a shipment of 25 beautiful, shiny new 1972 cars just arrived at our door.

If you buy before the freeze comes unfrozen, we can let you have one of these beauties (or two or three, if you like) at the 1971 price. Now, we know the prices are going to go up eventually, probably within weeks. Because the cars are costing more to make. But right now you're definitely ahead of the game if you deal.

And you'll save even more if you've got a nice late model trade.

Our used car business is very important to us. And right now we're not doing any because we just don't have the cars. So our new car department wants to sell, and our used car department wants to buy. And that makes a very, very good situation for you.

CARDS OF THANKS

A sincere thanks to our family dear
To all of relatives, neighbors and friends
For such a wonderful 25th Anniversary Day
One which will be in our memory to stay.
The beautiful cards, gifts and flowers
Were all much appreciated
It was just like a shower
All of you have been so nice,
It's difficult to say
How much appreciation
Is in this message today
So this is meant to tell every one "thanks".
And then to tell you too
This world would be a nicer place
With more folks just like you.
39-1 Alta and Ernest Carr

I would like to say a sincere "Thank You" to all my neighbors, friends and relatives for the many cards, gifts and personal calls I received while in hospital and since my return home. I would also like to say thanks to Rev. May of St. Paul's, to the nurses and staff of 5th floor and to Dr. Douglas and to Dr. Hipwell for their friendly smile and helping hand.

Canada Savings Bonds available

Toronto. Records are made to be broken. Almost every day we read of a new first. Some achievements are epic-making: the four-minute mile; the breaking of the sound barrier; man's landing on the moon. Others are less spectacular and less publicized, but nevertheless, in their own way, they are impressive accomplishments, representing new goals sought, realized and surpassed.

The steady growth in the sales of Canada Savings Bonds may not seem an event in the same class as the conquest of Everest. However, it is a story of new heights attained each year since the inception of Canada Savings Bonds in 1946. Onward and upward symbolizes the 26-year history of Canada's most popular investment.

During this time Canadians have bought nearly $32 billion worth of Canada Savings Bonds and of this total $7.6 billion is currently outstanding. Last year alone, over 1.6 million Canadians bought $2 billion worth of these Bonds. Through payroll savings plan purchases alone, last year there were over 630,000 applications for $283.4 million worth of Canada Savings Bonds.

What is the secret of the success of this record-breaking performer? Why have Canada Savings Bonds remained a favorite of millions of Canadians over the years?

The main reason is that they have the essential qualities that all top class performers must possess: dependability, endurance, adaptability, popular appeal.

They are an attractive investment, helping individual Canadians to save toward the personal goals, which they and their families are seeking and they also help to finance Canada's growth and future development.

With such backing and such goals, no wonder the sales of Canada Savings Bonds have been reaching new heights each year. They help Canadians build a brighter future for themselves, their families and their country, and there is a prospect with unlimited lift-off power!

Canada Savings Bonds are cashable anytime at full face value plus earned interest and this year's Series pays an average of 7.1% interest to maturity. They're the Go-ahead way to save for the future. The new Series is available at par across the country from Oct. 4 to Nov. 15.

DO IT BETTER

Judge Ray Brubacher, Guelph, did a very competent, snappy job of placing the Holstein classes at Lindsay Exhibition on September 23rd. This was an evening show with a large crowd on hand to watch the competition as 98 head were paraded by 28 exhibitors.

Ronald Warner, Hastings, was Premier Breeder, with Clarence Gleen, Keene, only one point behind, and Harold Miller, Omeene, a very close third. T. Robert Fleet, Oshawa, was Premier Exhibitor with Clarence Gleen runner-up.

Marilyn Buckley, Victoria County Dairy Princess presented the ribbons. A special feature was the class for the James E. Graham Memorial, where 23 entries, mostly 4-H boys and girls, competed for ten cash prizes of $10.00 each. In first place was Ed McMorris with his 4-H calf. Ed had been selected as Reserve Champion showman at the Inter-County 4-H Show the previous day.

The classes were well filled, as this was an open show, with good quality running well down the lines. The first prize yearling bull shown by Lorne F. Senev, Sunderland, was the Junior Champion. He was Romandale Rockman Esquire, clear and upstanding, trim at the front end and with good legs and balance. Esquire took the same award at Port Perry recently. The first prize bull calf shown by Robert Flett typed in very closely and was Reserve Champion. He was Mar-Gedon Rockman Jet, long bodied and deep ribbed, with a smooth, level rump. Both bulls are sons of Selling Rockman.

The winning yearling heifer shown by Harold Miller, Omeene, was the Junior Champion female. She was Millen Betsy Voyageur, a large, well balanced heifer with a wealth of dairy character. The Reserve Junior Champion female was the second placing in the same class, Ormendale Perseus Elizabeth, shown by Ross Miller, Sunderland. This was an extremely large junior yearling, deep of body, with good movement and a long, level rump. These heifers were both shown by new exhibitors.

The class for three-year-old contained both senior champions of the open show. First place went to Surodiana Margda & William F. Moore, Port Hope and Cobourg, while Parksvue Leader Duchess Audrey, shown by Robert Flett, Oshawa, took the Reserve awards. Grand Champion Lorraine had been Champion at Peterborough Exhibition and Reserve Grand Champion at Campbellford earlier in the show season. She was a large, strong cow with great capacity and plenty of dairy character. Audrey in Reserve place was smaller, well balanced and smooth, with a well shaped, firmly attached udder, and clean feet and legs.

The first prize two-year-old heifer, Millen Agnes A, shown by Harold Miller, stood third in the Championship line-up, and was Senior and Grand Champion for Victoria County. He took the county win. The Reserve Grand Champion for Victoria County was the third prize four-year-old, and Blythe Farm, Fenselon Falls, the winning aged cow.

DRO expects heavy turnout in Hastings

In spite of the low-key character of the current provincial election campaign, the district returning officer, Lloyd Price, is predicting a heavy turnout of voters in Hastings riding next Thursday.

Voters in this riding, which stretches 120 miles north and south, and 30 miles east and west, traditionally are enthusiastic responders on election day.

Mr. Price points out that close to 70 per cent of the 18,500 eligible voters turned out in the 1967 provincial election.

This year the vote may be even higher because of the proxy vote which may permit students and servicemen to vote away from home.

"I think it's going to increase the percentage some," said the DRO. "We hope so. We like to see as many people as possible voice their opinion when there's an election. That's why we operate as a democracy. It must be awful disappointing to have an election and only 25 to 30 per cent out."

Advance polls for electors who expect to be absent from their polling subdivision on Election Day will be held in Camlin Township Hall, Madoc Orange Hall and at 224 Hastings St. N., Bancroft, on Saturday, Oct. 16 and Monday, Oct. 18, from 12 noon until 9 p.m.

On the day of the general election, the polls will be open from 9 a.m. until 8 p.m. The returns will be tallied at the home base of the returning officer, at the Township Hall in Actinolite.

The candidates for election in Hastings are: Richard Lunn, R.R. 2, Hillier, New Democratic Party; Rev. L.E. Munro, Tweed.

Liberal Party; and Clarke T. Rollins, R.R. 1, Bancroft, Progressive Conservative Party.

There are a total of 106 polling subdivisions in the riding, including three in the village of Stirling, six in Rawdon township and five in Huntingdon township.

In Stirling, voters residing in the area south of Front St. will cast their ballots at the Community Hall. All other electors will vote at the Masonic Hall. Polling stations in Rawdon will be at the James Mink residence, Mount Pleasant Church Hall, the Orange Hall at Wellman's, the Minto Community Hall, the Spring Brook Orange Hall and Moore's Store in Bonarville.

For Huntingdon township residences, the polling places will be at the Moira Community Hall, West Huntingdon Orange Hall, the township hall in Ivanhoe, White Lake Orange Hall and the Ray Moon residence.

Solves own mystery

While Arthur Duncan of Stirling was speaking to a meeting at the Orange Hall in Trenton Tuesday night, someone stole his car which he had left parked outside on Ontario St. The incident duly reported to police and his insurance company, Mr. Duncan managed to get a lift back to Stirling. Police sent out a province wide bulletin, Wednesday morning, he rode to Trenton in his wife's car. Just south of Highway 401, on the east side of the Trent River, Mr. Duncan spotted a familiar looking vehicle parked on Douglas Road, which leads to Moore's Business Farms. You guessed it, it was his missing car, empty of gas and with a hub cap removed. A red-faced officer at the Trenton police station explained that their search for the vehicle had extended within 500 feet of Douglas Road.

Know when to stop for school buses

A concerted drive to educate motorists, school children and their parents is being conducted this week by the Accident Prevention Branch of the Ontario Provincial Police. The aim is to have everyone know when they should stop when approaching a school bus that is already stopped or slowing down with lights flashing.

There are three situations when a bus is stopped with lights flashing, outside a built up area and the speed limit is more than 35 miles per hour.

(a) On a two lane highway where the bus is stopped discharging or loading passengers; or

(b) On a four lane highway with a painted centre line; or

(c) On a four lane highway divided by a centre section of concrete or other material that creates a noise when driven over (known by the term 'rumble' strip).

On a four lane highway divided by a grass median, or with a crash fence down the middle, only the car travelling the SAME DIRECTION as the bus are required to stop.

Students getting off the bus in the first three cases must cross the road if necessary in front of the bus. Students alighting from the bus in the fourth case or inside a town area, must wait until the bus leaves the loading zone, then proceed across like any other pedestrian.

Bus drivers should NOT have their flashing lights operating in a village, town or city area, or any place where the speed limit is 35 or less. If, in this instance, the lights are flashing, traffic MAY PASS the bus in BOTH directions.

In addition to press coverage of this special drive, the OPP are visiting all schools and talking to pupils concerned with bus travel. There are still some misunderstandings about this system in both the minds of the drivers, and police have been receiving complaints about drivers not obeying the current laws.

Couples enjoy color tour

Mr. and Mrs. John Carlisle and Mr. and Mrs. George Carlisle, Stirling, enjoyed a six-day guided color tour through Northern Ontario, Michigan and western Ontario. The places of interest they visited were the mines at Sudbury and Copper Cliff, the Agawa Canyon, north of Sault Ste. Marie, Mackinac Island, Michigan and Stratford, Kitchener and the African Lion Safari and game farm near Rockton, Ont.

Two couples on the bus were celebrating wedding anniversaries and were pleasantly surprised to find their names on the Holiday Inn sign at Bay City, Michigan, Oct. 6 when they arrived to spend the night there.

They were Mr. and Mrs. George Brinkelbank, Peterborough, celebrating their 24th, and Mr. and Mrs. John Carlisle their 20th.

Bethel Church marks 97th anniversary

On Sunday, September 19, Bethel United Church on the Rawdon Circuit, observed its 97th anniversary with a large assembly of worshippers in attendance from the community and nearby points.

The church was artistically decorated for the occasion with baskets of colorful mums and gladioli, and a basket of flowers was placed in memory of the late Edgar McKeown, by his daughter, Mrs. William Heath and Mr. Heath.

Rev. John Peters of Marmora was the guest minister, and based his morning message on "The Shaking of the Foundations," Isaiah, in the Temple, saw foundations shaking. What we need to meet this shaking is a new vision of the Giver of meaning to life, he said.

Special music was arranged by Mrs. Harold Elliott, A.T.C.M., church pianist, and Mrs. Kenneth Sine.

The Junior Choir, directed by Mrs. Sine and accompanied by Mrs. Wayne Reid, sang "There's A Great Day Coming," by W. Thompson.

The guest soloist, Mr. Norman Middleton of Toronto, sang two numbers, "The Lord is my Light" by F. Alliston and "The Stranger of Galilee" by C. Morris.

The service opened with "Let us with a Gladness Mind" and previous to the sermon the congregation sang "Come Holy Spirit."

and the service closed with "How Firm a Foundation" followed by the benediction and the choral Amen.

Evening Service

Rev. J. Peters based his evening sermon on "What's Left." He described the church as a small boat tossed on a rough sea. Tools needed to navigate are (1) Basic Message of love found in the gospel (2) New Sense of worldwide Brotherhood (3) Fresh grasp of our Task of spreading to others the good news

Youth Seeks Compensation

TORONTO - The Ontario Criminal Injuries Compensation Board last week heard the application of Steven Hoyt, 18, of Stirling asking compensation for a hunting accident near Trenton in 1969 that left him with an artificial leg.

Board member A. R. Williams described the case as unusual because the 15-year-old boy who held the shotgun that discharged into Steven's leg was later acquitted on a charge of careless hunting.

Steven was in hospital 18 months after infection set in which resulted in his leg being amputated. The board withheld a ruling on the application.

Dog Catcher After People!

Tardy dog owners beware! The dogcatcher is after you. Sidney Township animal controller Don Tucker is about to undertake a telephone campaign to persuade 95 dog owners that it is about time they paid their licence fee for 1971.

The amount varies according to the breed and sex of the dog but some owners are required to pay as little as $2. Most have already been canvassed or given notice.

Mr. Tucker says there are about a half dozen persons who refuse to pay the fee. One owner says he is holding out until local roads are improved.

Helmet law will remain

Ontario has approved the continued use of motorcycle helmets meeting the standards of the Snell Memorial Foundation or British Standards Institute beyond the end of 1971. Hon. Charles S. MacLoughlin, Minister of Transportation and Communications, said recently. Previous regulations had required all helmets to meet the standards of the Canadian Standard Association by the end of this year. "The whole question of standards for motorcycle helmets is being re-examined both here and in the United States," Mr. MacLoughlin said. "Meanwhile, for the convenience of those motorcyclists who are using helmets conforming to the high standards of Snell and BSI, we are allowing their continued use."

Since 1968, Ontario law has required that motorcyclists and their passengers must wear approved helmets. Helmets must bear the appropriate monogram or certificate.

Evans - Camm

The marriage of Marion Eleanor Camm and Barrie Evans, both of Kingston, was solemnized on Saturday, October 9 at 11:00 a.m. in Sydenham Street United Church, Kingston. The bride is the only daughter of Wendell Camm of Stirling and the late Mrs. Camm and the groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Haydn Evans of Penfold, Glamorgan, South Wales.

Both the bride and groom attended Queen's University, Kingston, the former taking the education degree at MacArthur College, and the latter the postgraduate clinical psychology course. The bride has her M.A. in French from Queen's and the groom did his postgraduate course at the University of Strathclyde, Glasgow, Scotland.

The bride had worn her long white gown and the complementing veil. She included in her costume a single strand of pearls that had been her mother's. She carried an arm bouquet of red roses.

Her attendants were Mrs. Wayne Twiddy of Belleville, a high school friend, Miss Jane Inkster of Kingston, a college friend, with whom she spent a year of study in France, and Linda Bullock, a friend from the time that the bride's home was in Peterborough.

They all wore long dresses of blue crepe with multi-colored nylon boleros in autumn shades, and they carried nosegays of autumn flowers.

The groom was assisted by Graham McColl, formerly of Dundee, Scotland, and now a postgraduate student in the psychology department of Queen's and by the bride's two brothers, Frank and Richard Camm, both undergraduates at Queen's.

Rev. Donald Drew, pastor of the church, officiated, and Dr. F.R.C. Clarke, organist of the church and also a professor at Queen's, provided the music including one of his own compositions which he played to honor the bride and groom while they were signing the register.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hough of Napanee, the bride's maternal grandparent, and the groom's parents who were paying their first visit to Ontario. The fathers of the bride and groom and the bride and groom spoke at the reception held at Pinalodge Inn, Kingston.

When they set out for their trip to Vermont, Mr. and Mrs. Barrie Evans were navy blue and purple suits that had been purchased in Britain by the groom's parents and presented to them for this occasion. On their return they are taking up residence on Bagot Street in Kingston.

In honor of Mrs. Barrie Evans, formerly Marion Camm, a recent bride, a linen shower for friends and neighbors in Stirling was held by Mrs. Kenneth Tompkins and Mrs. Morley Barlow in the former's home on Church Street.

A miscellaneous shower for high school friends was given by Mrs. Wayne Twiddy (formerly Janet Fletcher) of Belleville.

A miscellaneous shower for friends in Kingston was held by Dr. Mitsi Sada of Kingston.

Following the rehearsal, Mrs. Clayton Bullock of Peterborough was hostess for a party held at the bride's home on Church St. in Stirling.

But Pastor Hodgins didn't feel led to go. Though he had to work hard to keep things going, God has blessed his work, and it's kept on growing.

Consider the advantages of having a competent professional building inspection of the house before you buy it.

This is not a real estate appraisal but a specific service designed to insure both the safety of the many parts of the house and the accuracy of the owner's rating of their conditions. This study will not only include the condition of the house, but of the drainage of the property, the foundations and so on.

This inspection, which very few home buyers are equipped to conduct, costs anywhere from $40 to $200 or so. It can save you needless expense later on.

Another good tip is to make use of a certified, impartial appraiser before making any final decision on purchasing real estate. The appraiser checks market value, studies the factors influencing the price of the house you're looking at today and forecasts what they might be in 20 years.

A third suggestion for the prospective homebuyer is to understand just what is included in your closing costs. These are per- fectly legal costs that are part of real estate transactions, but they lack any national standard regulation.

Moreover there is a question as to who pays which ones, or which will be split between the buyer and seller. For some help in this area, check with the American Title Association, which offers a small leaflet about closing costs as a public service.

A 'buddy' for a wife?

An Obligation

Voters in Hastings and the other 117 electoral districts across the province have a date on October 21 to exercise one of the most sacred privileges existing under our democratic way of life -- to cast a vote for the candidate of their political choice. Unfortunately, it is a right that too many citizens forget, ignore or do not think worthwhile.

Recently, there were elections in south-east Asia under conditions that differed greatly from the situation here. The point that all thinking citizens should bear in mind, however, is that over 90 per cent of the voters in that area voted. It matters not what we may think of the conditions of the vote. But that so large a proportion of the people so highly prized their vote, that they did cast it, gives residents of a country like Canada much cause for serious thought.

There is no thought here of indicating any special candidate or party. Some newspapers have a political preference, but the number of these seems to be declining. We feel we should provide the message of all the candidates, for the consideration of the voters, then speak out in praise or criticism of the policies pursued.

One special segment of the voters which needs education about the obligation thrust upon them by recent legislation, is that group under 21, who will be voting for the first time. Parents and friends should tactfully make sure these impressionable people are aware of the implications of the forthcoming vote, and what is expected of them as a voter.

It should be noted that voting was not always like this. There were days in this country, when strong arm methods were used to persuade the voter, especially the timid ones, as they approached the polling place. For some years, votes were made in public, which made such methods even more effective.

In some countries, like Australia, there is a fine for people who cannot find the time or inclination to vote. Perhaps many North American areas might investigate this system. With our record of anemic votes, particularly in municipal elections, it would certainly either realize some needed revenue or get the citizen more involved, a word that is considered dangerous in many vocabularies.

Our democratic system may have some deficiencies; it may see politicians elected we feel are unqualified; it may introduce legislation we abhor; but there is one comfort -- these people were not put there by force or subversion, it was by our vote.

Stop and ask yourself next Friday morning, did I do my part to elect Ontario's government? Your vote may not have been for the successful candidate or party, but the fact you voted showed you care.

Backseat driving is such a tired old subject that I usually never mention it, except to turn and snarl, "Yeah, yeah," from time to time. However, we are now faced with a crisis. Somebody says that backseat driving is a good thing!

And this isn't just some-boddy's wife speaking in that martyred tone that she uses when she has yelled, "Red Light!" and you have jammed on the brakes, bellowing back at her, "I know it! I know it!"

(You bellow this while trying to ignore the fact that if you really had seen the red light, why did you stop so suddenly that the back seat now looks as if your kids, blankets, sandwiches, thermoses and open bottles of pop have been travelling for several miles in a cement mixer?)

No, sir, this support for back seat driving is from the National Safety Council, as follows:

"Want to live longer? Here's one method: Become buddies with that person fighting in the back seat of your car -- or right there beside you, for that matter.

A Weekly Meditation

Need A change?

Insulin is highly effective for diabetics, but only if it is used. Just merely appreciating the medicine doesn't help one a bit. It is the same with the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ, the good news about Christ, it is God's powerful method of bringing all who believe it to heaven.

We read in Roman's 1:16 For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ; for it is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth, to the Jew first, and also to the Greek.

Just knowing about the gospel is not enough, it will not help anyone until they believe it, and accept Jesus Christ into one's heart and life.

You may say respectful things about Jesus Christ, and Christianity, the church, the Bible, and even individual Christians, and what you say may be true but for your spiritual illness to be healed and your life changed, you must receive the power of Jesus Christ to conquer sin. Then you will have a new, eternal relationship with the Son of God. The Lord Jesus Christ is waiting for you to personally place your love and trust in Him, not your remote detached admiration.

In 2 Peter 3:9 we read "The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness, but is long suffering to usward, not willing that any should perish but that all should come to repentance."

Many people are missing out on this wonderful relationship with God. Perhaps not because of deliberate rejection of Christ, but because of careless neglect in receiving Him.

Neglect of insulin, though, accompanied by respect for the medication, and an admiration for the discoverer will lead to tragedy for the diabetic. So with God's salvation, to neglect it, brings tragedy. The Bible says in Hebrews 2:3 "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?" We might put it in today's language in this way, "What makes us think that we can escape, if we are indifferent to the great salvation announced by the Lord Jesus Christ himself?"

The Gospel is God's good news, and effective method in bringing you to Himself. Believe it and trust Jesus Christ as your savior.

I'm deadly serious. As everybody (except, apparently, the National Safety Council) knows, the stresses and strains of marriage, physical and mental, require certain outlets.

The husband makes the money, runs financial matters, and is always boasting about the big man he is downtown. He never listens to what the laundry man said this time, or fixes the lawn mower, or shows much in the way of deep interest in other similarly vital matters in the daily life of his wife.

So when they are out driving together, in their hundreds of thousands, the wife gets back at him by criticizing his driving.

She doesn't think he should pass when he does. She always thinks that car coming out of Rev. Geo. McConnell, of Albert College, will occupy the Methodist pulpit, Stirling, morning and evening next Sabbath.

RAWDON CIRCUIT - Owing to the Rev. W. Higgs, of Frankford, will preach at Mt. Pleasant 10:30 a.m.; Bethel 2:30 p.m.; and Wellman's 7 p.m., on Sunday Oct. 11th.

Messrs. Vandervoort and Imholz's creamery, in Rawdon, was totally destroyed by fire on Saturday night last, about midnight. Very little was saved from the building. The loss is over $1,500, but is partially covered by an insurance of over $800. The destruction of the creamery at this season is a great loss, not only to the proprietors, but to the farming community of the neighborhood. It is hoped they may rebuild.

Last Thursday evening Mr. W. F. W. Carstairs, Chief Official Organizer of the Ancient Order of Foresters, instituted a new Court of that order here, which will be known as Court Rawdon. While the membership is not yet large, yet Court Rawdon has excellent material in it already, and the promise of accessions to its ranks at a very early date, it starts with the following strong staff of officers:

Mr. Geo. L. Scott, Chief Ranger.
Mr. David Sager, Sub-Chief Ranger.
Mr. T. E. Oliver, Past Chief Ranger.
Mr. J. S. Carstairs, B.A., Secretary.
Dr. Zwick, Treasurer.
Mr. Jas. Haslett, Senior Woodward.
Mr. Jas. Knowles, Jun. Woodward.
Mr. Jas. Conley, Senior Deade.
Dr. Zwick, Court Physician.

Stirling Citizens' Band, under the leadership of Maurice Bell, fulfilled an engagement at Madoc Fair on Wednesday last.

On display at this office are two large carrots grown in the garden of Arthur Rodgers, Ridge Road. They are 15 and 18 inches, respectively, in circumference at their largest point and their combined weight is four and a quarter pounds.

Due to a fire in a cattle crossing on the C.N.R. near Madoc Junction last night, train service through here was discontinued until late this forenoon. No mail reached the local post office this morning but the express was brought from Belleville by truck.

We're all in this together.

On October 21st, more than four million Ontario citizens will select, from among themselves, 117 people to represent them. And, at the same time, they will select one man as their Premier.

Bill Davis has said to the people of Ontario: "You have no need to judge us on our promises. We are asking you to support us for our performance...for the decisions we have made, for the policies we have introduced, for the more than 130 items of legislation we have implemented."

Consider that record.

The establishment of a Department of the Environment, and assistance to firms investing in pollution control equipment. The banning of logging in Quetico and Killarney Provincial Parks. Summer employment for students in clean-up operations (Project SWEEP). The Endangered Species Act. A tougher line with corporate polluters. With clear decisions and vigorous action like this, Ontario can breathe a little easier.

The Davis government's decision to halt the Spadina Expressway, coupled with a pledge to provide greatly expanded assistance to mass public transit, has brought us closer to a rational solution of our transportation problems.

The Provincial conference on economic and cultural nationalism reflects and also contributes to an expanding awareness of the potential of our country and our people.

Davis decisions have helped the Canadian publishing industry; special provisions have been written into Ontario Development Corporation loans to encourage Canadian effort, to preserve and enhance what is distinctive about our society.

And there have been a great many other Davis government decisions... good decisions: No-fault car insurance. The task force for off-track betting. Expanded grants to day-care centres. Detoxification centres. Expanded housing on a rent-g geared-to-income basis. Free medicare for the needy, and for people 65 and over. And lowering the age of majority.

Which brings us back to your decision, at the ballot box.

For democracy to succeed, it's not enough to talk about change. Change must be made to happen. That's why Bill Davis is doing things. And doing things—for people—is surely what leadership is all about.

In his first seven months as Premier, Bill Davis has demonstrated the kind of leadership and government Ontario needs. With your support on October 21st, he will continue. He can do much more.

Davis is doing things...for people.
On October 21st, do something for Ontario...Support Bill Davis.

Trent Library re-organized

The services of Trent University's Bata Library which now houses some 170,000 books, have been amalgamated into two major divisions, J. D. P. Martin, University Librarian has announced.

The two divisions, public services and bibliographic services, will be headed respectively by Bruce Cossar and John Wiseman. Mr. Cossar, who joined the staff of Trent in 1964, becomes associate librarian, Mr. Wiseman, at Trent since 1967, becomes assistant librarian.

The public services division, takes in reference, circulation, reserves, government documents, inter-library loans and the map library. Bibliographic services embraces acquisitions, serials, cataloguing, binding and preservation, and the development of collections.

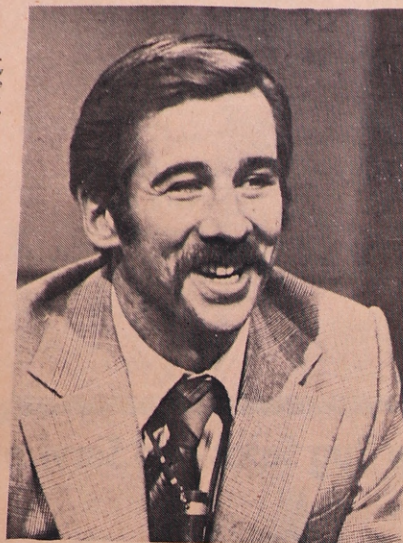

Mr. Martin said that the growth and development of the library over the past several years prompted its reorganization.

Mr. Cossar, a native of Dunbarton, was educated at Queen's University, McGill, and the University of Toronto. He joined the staff of Royal Military College in 1962 and two years later came to Trent as reference and circulation librarian. In 1967 he became administrative assistant to Mr. Martin, and in 1968 assistant librarian (administration). Mr. Wiseman, prior to coming to Trent, was college librarian at the Flintshire College of Technology in North Wales. Previously he had been on the staff of the library at the University of Vermont. He joined the staff of Trent as head of acquisitions in 1967.

The Bata Library's present holdings, Mr. Martin noted, total approximately 280,000 items, including some 52,500 government documents and 31,000 maps, as well as subscriptions to 2,100 periodicals.

For some years, Trent has spent or budgeted for an expenditure on books and library services well over the Canadian average per student. In 1970-71, it spent $333.80 per student, compared to the Canadian average of $222.00 and the Ontario average of $236.00. Mr. Martin noted that in the same period this came to 10.5 per cent of the university's total expenditure, and that a similar percentage was budgeted for in the current academic year.

THIS COUNTRY IN THE MORNING

Peter Gzowski, that bright young man about Canadian journalism, and latterly, broadcasting, is the host of CBC Radio's new weekday magazine program, This Country In The Morning. The three-hour show debuts Monday, October 4 at 9:15 a.m. EDT. Plenty of talk, music, humor, pocket documentaries, readings, actuality, phone-outs and information galore will be the order of the day. Peter, who for two and a half years hosted Radio Free Friday, will get an assist from Helen Hutchinson and Bruno Gerussi. Live, topical, entertaining and informative — that's This Country In The Morning.

Short course at RVWI Centre

(by Mrs. Percy MacMullen)
On Friday, October 8, a short course on the subject "Fashion Cues for You," was held at River Valley Institute Centre with Mrs. M. Mulligan of the Home Economics Branch of the Ontario Department of Clothing and Textiles, in charge.

There were 10 members of River Valley Institute and six from Uxbridge WI in attendance. The leader in her introductory remarks stressed that fashion should be from youth to age. Each lady should be as smart and attractive as possible and remember to have an individual look. Don't try to copy someone else.

Clothes should add to your personality and you should never forget that personal appearance is very necessary thus your clothes should have beauty, wearability and social value.

A series of charts were given out in various sizes, and colors. The charts gave in detail what to avoid if you are short waisted, tall and thin, tall and heavy or vice versa. The colors, textures of fabrics and accessories were all outlined on printed charts which were given to each participant in the course. The group enjoyed their own box lunch at noon in the school kitchen.

The afternoon program continued with a message re patterns. The leader predicted that a new look in sleeves would soon be shown.

The ladies should always choose styles to suit their own figure also clothes to go with their complexion and a neckline that is appropriate for themselves.

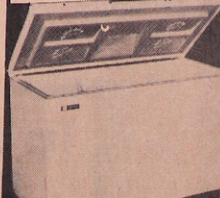

Mrs. Mulligan gave a descriptive message on the theme of color. She suggested that you wear bright colors on a dull day. If you want to disguise your figure wear dull textured clothes.

The leader gave many interesting points of good fashion and stressed several items of special interest to those in attendance. At the close she was given a vote of thanks for presenting the course in such an informative manner.

CANVASBACK

This big diving duck is found in the deep water of marshes and marshy edges of lakes as well as the deep prairie potholes. The wedge-shaped bill, merging into the forehead gives this duck a distinctive head outline. Canvasback obtain most of their food by diving and rooting in the bottom mud for succulent roots and tubers of aquatic plants. Sago pondweed on the prairies and wild celery in the east are favorite foods. The nest, nearly always built over water, is a sturdy, basket-like structure of woven reed stalks lined with finer material and securely attached to surrounding vegetation. Ten eggs are generally laid.

River Valley WI

The October meeting of River Valley Women's Institute was held on Thursday, Oct. 7, at the centre. There were 20 members, seven visitors and three pre-school children in attendance.

Several bouquets of flowers were used for decoration and a variety of goods.

Mrs. Ernest Carr was hostess. The Tweedsmuir Books, a large number of historic pictures of former valley folk, and newspaper clippings were displayed on long tables.

Mrs. George Grills opened with the Institute Ode, Mary Stewart Collect and a welcome to all. Mrs. Ernest Carr and Mrs. Roy Tucker, were in charge of an in memoriam service in memory of Mrs. Ed Kent who was a member of the Curators committee. Mrs. Gerald Brooks read the correspondence letters. Mrs. J. L. Donohoe gave the Institute financial report and Mrs. Vernon Harry reported for the Centennial Fund. The Institute donation for the Erland Lee Homestead Fund. The Institute Saturday, October 24. A copy of the book entitled "The Institute Story" will be ordered for River Valley WI.

The first card party will be held Friday evening November 5; an invitation for catering for two banquets was accepted for The Lower Trent Valley Fish and Game Club. One in November and the other in 1972.

The District Director, Mrs. Ross Bush, gave her report from the recent executive meeting. On February 14, 1972, the district will observe the 75th anniversary of the founding of the organization. The anniversary meeting will be held in the Stirling Community Hall.

The Trent Valley Area Convention will be held two days, October 21 and 22 at Club Canara. The delegates and alternates are first day, Mrs. George Grills, Mrs. Roy Tucker and second day, Mrs. Vernon Harry and Mrs. Ernest Carr.

The new proposed area bylaws were read and discussed. The convenors reports were given by Mrs. Glenn Bush, Mrs. Vernon Harry, Mrs. Ernest Carr and Mrs. Jack Bush.

The public relations officer, Mrs. Percy MacMullen, synthesized a message from Mrs. Raymond Sagre, a past president of A.C.W.W. This stressed that the rural woman of today demands a modern kitchen to make easier living conditions possible.

The A.C.W.W. secretary, Mrs. Roy Tucker reported $1.41 in the September penny jar. She gave a few excerpts from the recent conference issue of "The Countrywoman" magazine.

A special page is devoted to "our pennies" and stresses how little to give for such a wealth of friendship. The pennies were gathered.

Mrs. Roy Bush Curator presided over the program and gave the introductory message. She distributed some of the material displayed.

Mrs. Philip Conley gave a musical interlude of old melodies. The roll call was very interesting as each lady displayed her spoons and told their history. Many of these were heirlooms. Some were unique in workmanship and well preserved.

Mrs. Roy Tucker gave the topic on the subject of spooning. She gave the description of a spoon which states that it is a small utensil used for dipping up liquids. In the 19th century many families had in their proud possession silver articles. By 1867 souvenir spoons were sold at the Centennial Exposition. "A George Washington Design." Her message was very interesting.

A historical contest was presented in dialogue form by Mrs. Jack Bush and Mrs. Ernest Carr. This was centred on the theme "Remember When". Many items of long ago were recalled along with more up to date news of the River Valley community. The past history was reviewed and brought out a wealth of information.

At the close of the program all sang "The Institute Grace." Refreshments provided by Mrs. Norman Rosebush, Mrs. Jack Bush and Mrs. Stanley Irvin were served in the kitchen after which Mrs. Glenn Bush voiced appreciative thanks to the hostess also for the program and social afternoon.

TODAY'S CHILD

BY HELEN ALLEN

Toronto Telegram Syndicate

"Sturdy and lively"

Martin is a handsome boy, very tall for his two years and four months. He is a child of mixed race — black and white — and he has fair skin, light-brown soft curls, and brown almond-shaped eyes.

He is the kind usually described as all-boy. He is happy, active, rambunctious and very determined. He is built like an athlete and is well co-ordinated, running and climbing and riding his tricycle with skill.

Martin is very inquisitive, wanting to see what's behind or inside everything he sees. He isn't much interested in television, but does like music. He's a good eater and makes no fuss about going to bed.

This sturdy young fellow needs parents who will enjoy his liveliness and will provide stimulation without pressure for academic achievement. To inquire about adopting Martin, please write to Today's Child, Department of Social and Family Services, Parliament Buildings, Toronto 182. For general adoption information, ask your Children's Aid Society.

Two Hastings hopefuls at Stirling rally

(BY THOM REYNOLDS)

Meet the Candidates Rally for Hastings riding was held last Wednesday night in the Stirling Theatre. The rally was organized by Mrs. Carl Bosak and Mrs. George Williams of Spring Brook acted as chairman. Attendance at the rally by local people was not as good as had been expected.

Candidates at the rally included Rev. Ian Munro, Liberal Candidate, and Richard Lunn, New Democratic Candidate for the riding. Clarke Rollins, Conservative Candidate, was unable to attend the meeting due to a prior commitment.

The group was welcomed to the rally by Reeve Robert Anderson with the candidates being introduced by Mrs. Bosak. Each candidate was given 10 minutes to address the group. A question and answer period followed.

Mr. Lunn, a journalist and teacher from Hillier in Prince Edward County, spoke of the changes that have been taking place in Hastings and Prince Edward Counties. He talked of the closing of cheese factories in both counties and the taking over of industries by American firms and how these factories, after being bought, were closed and moved to other areas away from the counties.

Mr. Lunn spoke of the responsibility there was in keeping the separate schools as they came under the Constitution.

Injunction laws affecting striking employees are unfair and unjust, said Mr. Lunn. Morris of the employer and employee must be weighed before a judge should have the right to allow an injunction, he said.

"The farmer is the forgotten man," said Mr. Lunn in a response to a question from the floor on farm income. "Pay the farmer anything, let the consumer pay through the nose," said Mr. Lunn, is the way the farming industry is set up now under the present government. Mr. Lunn sees tourism as the chief issue on this riding as Hastings is a natural area to absorb the flood of tourists and vacationers from the Toronto Metropolitan area. Mr. Lunn is also interested in problems of population and the environment. Mr. Munro, a United Church Minister from Tweed, spoke of the loss of power by the people and by the councils for any county municipality. He said that there is the loss of the municipal government by the introduction of regional government. Mr. Munro spoke of the present government as being a dictatorial governing group leaving the small councils without say.

In answer to a question from the floor on whether the party would allow Americans to buy Canadian land, Mr. Munro gave a straight No. He said Americans would be able to lease and rent the land but would not be able to buy.

Mr. Munro also said separate school education came under the Constitution but went on to say that it would be brought under the control of the department of education. He said that this would arise since the students would share the facilities of one school owned by the department.

Mr. Munro called for "more Canada" saying that there was too much Americanization. He said that the idea of centralization of the school system was imported from the United States. He said that school boards in the United States are finding that the schools are too large and are now decreasing student enrolment. This same thing has happened in Canada. He also mentioned textbooks that are used in Ontario schools as being printed in the U.S.

Mr. Munro believes that Ontario needs a change from a party which holds all the power and gives the people little say in their own local affairs. He feels that the Liberal party will give back this removed power to local councils and the local people and that the party will bring about other changes.

Mr. Munro and Mr. Lunn both agreed that there is a need for a change in the Ontario government. They both said that the old democratic government has been taken away from the people. That the people now do not care who gets in and that this was shown at the meeting last Wednesday night by the number of present and the lack of Conservative party representation.

Fred Heasman to head group

The Senior Citizens met on Thursday with about 40 present. We were happy to note that Ada Bush was back in circulation again. The officers for the 1971-72 term are as follows.

President, Fred Heasman; vice president, John Kane; treasurer, Lil Heasman; secretary for cards, Luella Bronson; general secretary, Bob Patterson; Lunch committee, Mary Cooke and Mabel Brooks; program committee, Nellie Montgomery and Myrtle Tanner; pianist, Margaret Fitchett; deck sorter, John Kane; property committee, Ernest Broadworth and Jack Senior.

Next week we will meet on Wednesday, Oct. 20, because our club room will be used for voting on Oct. 21. One of our girls was heard to say, "Well it's better to meet the day before elections than the day after, for some of us may feel pretty sick the day after."

The lunch for the day was served by Mabel Brooks, Luella Bronson and Myrtle Tanner. Life is really simple in the 20th century. Why, one can get oil from the ocean and detergents from the drinking water.

election, gave the News-Argus an explanation for his absence from the candidates meeting held in Stirling last Wednesday night. Mr. Rollins said the first hint he had of the meeting was on Friday evening, Oct. 8 when an anonymous phone call reached his campaign headquarters in Madoc.

The caller was told that Mr. Rollins' campaign manager already had committed the candidate to attend a meeting in Hungerford township on the night of the proposed Candidates Meeting, he explained.

I'll hold my candle high and then perhaps I'll see the hearts of men, above the sordidness of life. I'll hold a candle high, and then perhaps I'll see the hearts of men.

Invest to be taxed

The annual campaign to have Canadians invest in a tax-free bond is again, buying Canada Savings Bonds is a commendable habit; a means of saving that many could not otherwise discipline themselves to do; a way of putting one's surplus funds to work for the government, while drawing a healthy rate of interest.

It is aspects of this last feature that seem somewhat out of date with the economic life of the country.

When these bonds first came out, about 23 years ago, the maximum coupon amount a buyer could cash at one time without having to declare it as income was three dollars. At that time, with the low interest rates in comparison to today's, there were numerous coupon values less than this amount. This gave investors who wished to cash a coupon or two a little extra money without having the internal revenue department reaching for its share.

1971 is a different story. In fact, the situation has been different for two or three years. Firstly, the coupon limit has never changed, and with the high rates of yield now being paid, there is scarcely a coupon less than four dollars.

Secondly, the government, while continually pleading for investment in Canada, by Canadians, recently lowered the limit of tax-free interest that could be earned from $100 to $10. At a time when interest rates were climbing constantly, this seemed like a plan to not only stifle public investment, but also milk every cent from those who did put their money to work for the country.

There seems to be a rare conflict of desire here. On the one hand, we are asked to buy bonds and save money, but the minute we do, and if we save the bonds to maturity, we are slapped with income tax on the profit made. With bonds that at times have doubled or more than doubled their value, this is a sizeable slap to the taxpayer come April 30.

It took almost two generations to change the exemption for income tax on the general base, despite the fact the cost of living has tripled since this was introduced as a "temporary measure" early in the 1940s. Let's hope it doesn't take that long for someone to wake up to the fact that if Canadians had a little tax-free incentive to invest in bonds or other attractive plans, they would be more inclined to do so than under the present grab-all policy of Messrs. Trudeau and Benson.

DEAR SCOTT YOUNG:
I am a mature man, but I always have been too busy making money to get married. Recently, I sold all my business interests for a lot of money and decided to retire and only now I have found the emptiness of not having a life companion. Several times in my life I almost got married and would have, if I'd been able to find the time. Now I'm wondering how I should go about letting women know that I am on the market?

Finally Ready
Dear Finally Ready: You say that several times in your life you almost got married. Why don't you make a list of the women who attracted you earlier and find out what they are doing now? It is best to act as if you just happened to be passing through, and wanted someone as a dinner companion. After meeting all these old flames, you should be able to rate them in order of present preference and go on from there.

DEAR SCOTT YOUNG:
I am a mature woman. Recently an old flame called and said he just happened to be passing through and was looking for a dinner companion. I found that he is quite rich — but also, he dropped a little hint which made me guess he is thinking of marriage, but he has made a list of nine women who are prospects! I am only one of them and I don't even know which one!

I will be frank. I would like to marry him. How could I go about catching him before one of those other hussies gets her hooks into him?

Puzzled
Dear Puzzled: I'm surprised at a mature woman asking such a question. Now that you know he's wife-hungry, keep reminding him you're alive.

Find out the places he frequents and keep running into him, as if by accident. Find out his hobbies and become expert in them too. Ask his advice on business problems. Find out which color of hair he likes and wear that color. Do thoughtful little things for him, such as sewing on buttons. Carry a needle and thread for this purpose. Notice what kind of neckties he likes and shop for that kind for him. I have received eight letters from women with approximately the same problem you have, oddly enough. The advice is the same to all of you.

DEAR SCOTT YOUNG:
You may remember me — Finally Ready?
You got me into this jam —

now get me out! What a mess! Over a period of about two weeks I took them all out and we had very nice evenings — but then!

At the beginning, three of them were brunettes, then had grey hair, two had light brown hair and one had red hair. Now the whole line of them have blonde hair of exactly the same shade!

I have caught four of them cutting off buttons with razor blades, pretending the buttons fell off and then whipping out needles to sew them back on.

In front of the church one morning, I had two of these women sewing buttons on simultaneously — one working at each sleeve!

The worst thing that happened was at the curling club (all rinks with one spare). One night going in to dinner I found I'd forgotten my tie. The headwaiter had a horrible hand-knitted wool one he loaned me. I now own 10 horrible ties, exactly alike.

Funny thing is, there's another woman at the club who never pays any attention to me. I really go for her. But she never gives me a tumble. I don't know whether she's just playing it cool or what, but I wish I knew how to find out. Got any ideas?

Finally Ready
Dear Finally Ready: If you are lucky enough to get the attention of the one who is playing it cool don't miff that one, brother! Ask her, get a licence, and go on a world cruise.

CONFIDENTIAL TO PLAY-ING IT COOL: Now!

A Weekly Meditation
By REV. JAMES F. MCGARVEY
St. James the Minor Church

The Bible should be a constant source for our religious beliefs and it should be close at hand. However, it need not be at hand. We are told that Mahatma Gandhi always had three books at his side: the Bible, Rerum Novarum and the life of St. Francis of Assisi. We should have books of our own choice to go hand-in-hand with our scripture reading.

The study of scripture and prayer to the Lord go hand-in-hand. The scripture gives orientation to prayers. The following scripture story helps to give us an insight into the value of prayer and some of its qualities. In Luke 18: 1-8, we read, "There was a judge in a certain town who had neither fear of God nor respect for man. In the same town was a widow who kept on coming to him and saying, 'I want justice from you against my enemy.' For a long time he refused, but at last he said to himself, 'Maybe I have neither fear of God nor respect for man, but since she keeps pestering me I must give this widow her just rights, or she will persist in coming and worry me to death.'

Concerning this story, the Lord said, "You notice what the unjust judge had to say. Now will not God see justice done to His

Presbyterian Church Women hold meeting

Mrs. Earl Fox was hostess to the ladies of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Women at her home on Thursday, Oct. 14.

Mrs. Bert Cook was in charge of the meeting, opening with thoughts concerning gratitude. The hymn, "Come, ye thankful people, come," was sung followed by prayer by Mrs. Cook.

The roll call, a Bible verse containing the word, "Thanks" was answered by 13 ladies.

The minutes and correspondence were read by the secretary, Mrs. Ken Tompkins. A workshop in Belleville at St. Andrew's, Oct. 30 and the Fall Rally in Kingston, Nov. 14 were announced. The Fellowship meeting of the combined local church groups will be held Oct. 25, at Mount Pleasant with St. Andrew's providing the music.

Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. J. Johnston, speaking for Mrs. K. Ray, who was absent, thanked the ladies for their efforts towards the Harvest Tea, which was a tremendous success.

A workshop at St. Paul's, Oct. 27, on nursing home visiting, will be represented by some of the St. Andrew's ladies.

Miss Gena Spry gave a very favorable financial report.

The offering, gathered by Mrs. J. Johnston was dedicated by Mrs. Cook.

Cards were signed by all the ladies and forwarded to two members who were ill.

Mrs. Roy Eggleton gave a very interesting reading entitled, "The Good Providence of God" which stressed that all our provisions are from God.

The hymn, "For the beauty of the earth," was sung.

Miss Gena Spry gave a topic on, "Thanksgiving, first reading Psalm 107:8. It was in 1879 that Thanksgiving was proclaimed a national holiday here. She stressed how very important it is for us to give thanks to God. We have so much to be thankful for. Our harvest is from God. Time, talent and values are His rewards. She questioned as to why it is that persons who have suffered much and had little, are the most thankful. She told three different stories of thankful people, then closed with an appropriate hymn.

Mrs. Cook closed the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. Taylor voiced thanks to the lunch committee for the delicious refreshments, and the hostess for her hospitality.

Couple married 40 years ago

The family of Mr. and Mrs. Harper Bateman gave them a surprise 40th anniversary party Saturday evening. They took them to the Riviera Inn at Campbellford where a delicious dinner was served with a beautifully decorated cake.

A corsage of red and yellow roses was pinned on the bride of 40 years and a carnation for the groom. Pictures were taken.

Present at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bateman, Mr. and Mrs. William Amm, Mr. and Mrs. Sam McIlwaine, all of Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Spencer and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Ray. His parents were unable to be present.

Following dinner they went to the home of their daughter, Mrs. Jack Spencer, where they were greeted by their 11 grandchildren and presented with gifts.

Later, a bountiful lunch was served, and all enjoyed the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Bateman voiced their thanks and appreciation to their family.

Stirling, Rawdon hold joint meeting

A joint meeting of Stirling village council and Rawdon township council was held Monday night in the Stirling council chambers.

Purpose of the meeting was to discuss the possibility of making Stirling's municipal garbage dump available to residents in the southern section of Rawdon township.

After having its dump ordered closed, Stirling now has approval to continue its operation until Oct. 31, 1972, with the possibility of a further extension.

Current suggestion is that residents of Rawdon living south of the Fifth Concession be allowed to use Stirling's dump, through a mutually agreeable arrangement to be worked out by the councils of the two municipalities.

Several proposals were made Monday night and it was decided that further discussions be held by the two councils themselves, with a view to finding a solution by Nov. 1.

The next regular meeting of Stirling council will take place on Monday evening, Oct. 25.

CORRECTION

In last week's edition of the News-Argus four names under the picture of the Stirling Girls' Softball team were inadvertently omitted. They were Marg Bateman, Cheryl Haggerty, June Watson and Virginia Pollock.

Rollins wins easily in Hastings

Clarke T. Rollins of L'Ambelle won a landslide victory for the Progressive Conservatives and will continue to represent the riding of Hastings which he re-captured in last Thursday's provincial election.

Mr. Rollins, who has spent the past 12 years at Queen's Park, polled 9,139 votes as compared to 4,552 by Rev. Ian Munro of Tweed, the Liberal candidate, and 1,617 by Richard Lunn of Hillier, the token candidate of the New Democratic Party.

Stirling voters gave Mr. Rollins overwhelming support. Of the 758 ballots cast, the PC candidate received 528 while 172 went to Mr. Munro and 58 to Mr. Lunn.

Rawdon also gave Mr. Rollins strong majorities in all of the six polls. His count was 622, Mr. Munro's 180 and Mr. Lunn's 97.

Huntingdon also went strong Conservative, with 400 votes being cast for Mr. Rollins, Mr. Munro polled 172 and Mr. Lunn 51.

Close to 70 per cent of the eligible voters in the riding turned out to cast their ballots as compared with the approximately 60 per cent in the 1967 election. Four years ago there were 18,492 eligible voters with 12,126 ballots being cast.

Due to the lowering of the voting age to 18 and as a result of an increase in population, the eligibility list this year was raised to 22,200. Of the eligible voters, 15,372 turned out to cast their ballots.

Mr. Rollins swept all 11 polls in Thurlow township, with unofficial totals giving the Progressive Conservative candidate 1,419, Munro 615, and Lunn 266. In Tiedinga, however, Mr. Munro picked up some strength, carrying the township (exclusive of the Mohawk Reserve) with 447 votes.

Mr. Rollins polled 412 township votes with Lunn receiving 65.

The Tiedinga Reserve restored Mr. Rollins' margin, however as he polled 154 votes against 15 for Munro and nine for the NDP candidate.

Deseronto went strongly for Mr. Rollins, the vote margin being 428 as against 242 Liberal votes and 95 NDP.

Liberal Ian Munro polled his greatest successes in Hungerford township and in the village of Tweed, where he outdrew the Conservative candidate in both municipalities.

Mr. Rollins polled 476 in Hungerford with Mr. Munro receiving 521 and Mr. Lunn 66.

In Tweed, Munro received 499 votes, Rollins 416 and Lunn 34.

In Marmora and Lake township the vote was 262 Rollins, 64 Munro and 51 Lunn. In Marmora village the count was Rollins 371, Munro 159 and Lunn 102.

In Deloro the count was Rollins 63, Munro 28 and Lunn 14.

Both Madoc township and Madoc village were strong territories for Rollins. In the township he received 397 votes, Munro 79 and Lunn 26. In the village it was 465 for Rollins, 109 for Munro and 64 for Lunn.

Elzevir and Grimsthorpe gave Rollins 176 votes, Munro 71 and Lunn 16.

Wollaston, Mr. Rollins' native township, gave him a majority with 151 votes as compared to 59 Liberal and 60 NDP.

In Tudor and Cashel, Mr. Rollins received 159 votes, with Munro getting 41 and Lunn 20.

In Limerick it was 97 for Rollins, Munro 21 and Lunn 15.

Faraday gave Rollins 238, with 95 going to Munro and 79 to Lunn.

Bancroft gave Mr. Rollins 635, compared with 169 for Munro and 135 for Mr. Lunn, while Centennial Manor at Bancroft polled 41 Rollins, 11 Munro and four Lunn votes.

Dunannon was strong Rollins territory, giving him 132 votes, compared with 39 for Munro and 25 for Lunn. Mayo saw 70 Rollins votes, 21 for Munro and 14 for Lunn.

Herschel township gave Rollins 163, Munro 50 and Lunn 43.

Monteagle saw 156 votes for Mr. Rollins, 123 for Munro and 58 for Lunn, while in Carlow it was 88 Rollins, 32 Munro and 22 Lunn.

McLure it was 48 Rollins 26 Munro and 10 Lunn. Wicklow gave Mr. Rollins 87, Munro 64 and Lunn 14.

In Bangor it was Rollins 25, Munro 79 and Lunn 18.

In three advance polls in the riding, local majorities for Mr. Rollins.

At Bancroft the voting was Rollins 56, Munro 30 and Lunn 18. At Madoc it was Rollins 74, Munro 52 and Lunn 11, while at Camforth the count was 34 for Rollins, 13 for Munro and five for Lunn.

Comments made by members of the group surrounding Mr. Munro in his Tweed home, where he waited out the results last Thursday evening, ranged from, "If he could have won, he would have been able to serve so many more people than he can now as a minister; 'he would be a Liberal victory for the county."

"I will always stand behind my conviction that the PC government infringes on civil rights and hinders communication between the public and the government."

Fibreglass industry will move to Stirling

A small industry has taken over the Shamrock Cheese Factory building on the Frankford Road in Stirling.

The cheese factory, which recently closed, has been leased to Centenary Company, which manufactures and markets several lines of fibreglass products used in the recreational field.

Centenary had its beginning in January, 1971 when two former employees of Deloro Stellite in Belleville set up the new business.

Hugh Heslip and Bruce MacKenzie both spent many years with the Deloro company, rising to high management positions.

Since May, the new business has operated from a service station in Frankford. The transfer to Stirling is expected to be completed this weekend.

The local firm has the Canadian franchise for production of mini-campers for Custom Hardtops, Long Beach, California. Centenary toppers have been shipped as far away as Winnipeg to the west and Sydney, N.S., to the east.

Centenary also handles Utibog toboggans for hitting behind snowmobiles, safety lights for snowmobiles and fibreglass kayaks, among other things.

Including the principals, the business provides employment for five men at present, but the figure is expected to increase to six or eight by next spring, said Mr. Heslip.

The 4,400 square feet provided in the cheese factory building will provide the firm with adequate floor space for the next two years, according to Mr. Heslip.

Stirling contractor, Harry Cooke, has been engaged to make necessary alterations to the building, prior to the start of production.

The 45th annual meeting of the Trent Valley Convention area was held at Club Canara, Belleville on Thursday and Friday, October 21 and 22.

Over 200 women were in attendance from the combined districts of Hastings, Prince Edward, Northumberland and Peterborough.

Mrs. Roy Tucker, Mrs. Roy Bush, Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Mrs. Glenn Bush and Mrs. Percy Craighead attended all four sessions. Mrs. Vernon Harry, Mrs. Ernest Carr and Mrs. Francis Sager were in attendance on Friday.

Mrs. Sager represented Hastings West District for the entertainment and she contributed a piano selection entitled "A Medley of Songs."

On Thursday Mrs. Glenn Bush gave a short message re the resolution which she had previously brought to the March meeting of the River Valley W.I. This was sustained at Branch level and then presented at the Hastings West District meeting where it was again sustained. The resolution convener, Mrs. Percy

Trent Valley WI convention held

MacMullen forwarded it to Mrs. Mrs. T. M. Gresham, area convener for resolutions.

The resolution was sustained at area level and will now be forwarded to the resolution convener of the Federated Womens Institutes of Ontario and it will be dealt with at the provincial board meeting in November. This is a copy of the resolution:

Whereas at present a great many snowmobiles and hunters are on the move across the country and trespassing on private property, also a large number of trails set up by clubs which have permission to travel on private property.

Whereas there seems to be a law that looks after the traveller and the trespasser but does not take the property owners into consideration.

Therefore be it resolved that the Women's Institute of Ontario do everything possible and ask the provincial government of Ontario to use its influence to help change this law, so that the property owner is not liable for the trespassers or anyone trespassing on his property and that these persons are there at their own risk, also if any damage is done to the property owners lands and buildings that the traveller and trespasser be liable for this act.

Signed at River Valley W.I. on April 1st, 1971.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

Stirling council on Monday night granted the Legion Branch No. 228 permission to hold Poppy Day on Friday, November 5 and Saturday, November 6. It was noted by councillors that the flood lights for the cenotaph would be installed some time this week and that the flags for the Remembrance Day service have been ordered from Peterborough.

A letter from Carl Bateman, Clerk Treasurer for Hastings County was read at the council meeting on Monday night in connection with Reeve Robert Anderson's request that Stirling be allowed to opt out of the Quinte Planning Region and that it be placed in the Hastings Planning Region.

At a special meeting with the Hastings County Council and the Quinte Planning Board, Reeve Anderson requested the change. Reeve Anderson said that his council thought that Stirling had closer ties with the rural area and with Rawdon Township. They saw the Oak Hills as a dividing factor between Stirling and the Quinte Planning Area and that Stirling would never be able to look to the south for sewage or water facilities.

The request will now go before the two boards and the county council.

In other business, council was told of water problems as residents in the Victoria Street area have complained to councillors of water in their basements and in driveways, causing flooding in some garages.

Mrs. F. Bartlett of Victoria Street has been faced with water in her driveway and in her garage which is on the same level as the road. Council discussed the need for a ditch or culvert along the complete length of the street.

It was decided that a culvert would be placed in the area and that the street committee take a look at the situation along the rest of the street.

Harry Cooke reported to council that some trees had been removed along the west side of the roadway leading into the lagoon and that the water was moving along the ditch now. He said that work would continue and that he was going to remove some of the snagged brush and muck.

Mr. Cooke also reported that work had been completed on a number of residences with plugged sewer lines.

Council on Monday night appointed Roy Eggleton as contractor for the construction of a small building to be set up at the Stirling dump. The building will be used in the day time for keeping a watch on those dumping garbage at the site. A heater is to be purchased later for the building.

There was a large display of millinery, sewing, items of interest from various countries, pictures of Erland Lee Homestead and a large poster used recently at the 70th anniversary of York Road W.I.

A large array of bulletins, badges and literature from Norway, etc., was displayed on the A.C.W.W. poster, The F.W.I.O.

St. Andrew's marks 117th anniversary

There was a very good attendance at the 117th anniversary of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Sunday.

Rev. Roy Taylor, B.A., B.D., L.H., minister of the church conducted the introductory part of the service.

Mrs. Harry Morrow, organist led the music. The hymns used were, "At the name of Jesus," "God's mercies I will ever sing," "Birds are singing, Zion's King shall reign victorious, and Jesus shall reign where ever the sun," "Mr. Arthur Duncan offered a solo entitled 'Just as I am,' and the choir sang 'The Lord shall lead' as the anthem.

Rev. David Murphy, B.A., B.D., M.H., of St. Columba Presbyterian Church, Belleville, was the guest minister. He based his sermon on Acts 1:1-11, and spoke of the need for mission work in the world today. He titled his sermon 'The Church's Unfinished Task.' He stressed the need of necessity of food, clothing and spiritual help in so many alien countries, while the people here live so lavishly. We must realize that it is our duty to share our over abundance with those in need.

He stated that missionaries are refused admittance, at this time into some of these very poor countries. Missionaries not only assist the people in new work habits, education, medical assistance, when they go to these countries. It seems a very desperate situation when they are refused entrance when they could do so much good. Rev. Murphy stressed that there is a great challenge for Christian people today when people are dropping away from the church right here in our own civilized country. We must put our whole heart into trying to strengthen the church both here and in those far away lands.

Rev. Murphy had been a missionary for ten years in British Guiana, so realizes the work missionaries are confronted with and what can be accomplished through mission work.

Jack Senior made and kindly donated a card cabinet as well as several decks of cards. I think his good wife, Tilley, had a hand in it too.

John Holmes, who is gradually creeping to 90, was surprised when his sister, Annie, along with John's Harlan from Mount Pleasant consisting of Helen and Barbara Jeffs, Phyllis Campbell and Joyce Williams served a nice lunch in his honor. John thanked them with well chosen words.

Next week we will again meet on Wednesday.

A bus trip to the ice capades on November 3 has been arranged. It will leave here at 3:30 for the 8 p.m. show. For members the cost will be $5.00 including trip and seats. For non members it will be $6.00.

It's funny that none of us can live on the salary we used to dream of getting.

Direct distance dialing is here

Residents in the Stirling telephone exchange are now able to dial their own long distance calls. The new service was provided earlier than scheduled, in order that Bell Canada customers here would not have to rely on operator help during the recent operator walkout.

"We had planned to introduce direct distance dialing on November 14," says Robert Carleton, Bell manager for the district, "but decided to advance the date in order to minimize the inconvenience to our customers during the walkout."

According to Mr. Carleton, the new service will require a change in calling habits.

For instance to dial a long distance call direct, callers will be required to dial one (1), the area code, and then the full seven digits of the number being called. Thus if a resident in Stirling wishes to direct dial a number in Toronto, he would dial one (1), then 416 (the area code in which Toronto numbers are located), then the seven digits of the number being called.

Only change from this dialing procedure occurs when a caller wishes to call a number which has the same area code. For instance if a resident in Stirling wishes to direct dial a call to Ottawa, All Ottawa numbers have the same area code of 613 as numbers in Stirling. Thus the caller need only dial one (1) and the seven digits of the number being called. This shorter dialing procedure applies only when direct dialing numbers with the same area code as the number from which the call is being placed.

Work is progressing on the construction of Ontario Housing Corporation, Senior Citizen units on Church St. When completed the project will provide 12 low cost housing units for senior citizens of the community.

The People Have Spoken

The people of Ontario have afforded the Progressive Conservative government under Premier William Davis a resounding vote of confidence.

Despite grumbling over some aspects of the performance of the past government, particularly in respect to implementation of regional government and support of Roman Catholic schools, the voters clearly wanted no part of the programs or candidates put up by the other two parties.

In this area, congratulations are due to the winning candidates, Clarke Rollins in Hastings and Dr. R. T. Potter in Quinte. Both men, although their personalities differ as day from night, have worked hard for their constituencies in the past and we have no doubt their fine performance at Queen's Park will continue over the next four years they will be in office.

Dr. Potter, who entered the Davis Cabinet a few months ago, no doubt will be appointed to an important portfolio in the premier's new lineup. The doctor has gained a reputation as a small "c" conservative, opposed to many of the outright socialist programs which have been killing the country's economy in recent years. He has a very real contribution to make to Ontario's political life.

Mr. Rollins, who probably will never make the headlines for anything he says in the Legislature, nevertheless has been an untiring worker behind the scenes for his riding. The unanimous endorsement of his nomination by Hastings county council speaks for itself.

We expect Mr. Rollins will continue to "get things done" in his constituency, a reputation he has justifiably acquired over the years. Having listened in on a telephone conversation he had with a civil servant in Queen's Park concerning a matter in Stirling, we understand why he is the MLA most respected by the civil service.

With the strong mandate they have received, the PCs now have a heavy responsibility to justify this voter confidence. While it is for legislators to govern, we trust Premier Davis will be sensitive to the feelings of the voters and that his big majority will not lead in the direction of arrogance. The knowledge that four years hence, he will have to go back to the people, should provide the needed motivation.

Scott Young

A real painful yarn!

Every time I hear a story about how an athlete overcame great pain to do or die for the Dear Old Team, I think of Ching Johnson.

He was a hockey player with the New York Rangers nearly 40 years ago and anybody who remembers that era will remember how he looked in pictures: bald and scarred and tough.

Once in a motel in a small city I encountered Dave Kerr, who was an alter ego to the Rangers and for awhile roomed with Ching. That night I heard more about Ching than I'd ever heard before, including a playing-with-pain incident that rivals any I've ever heard in sport. It's one thing to go out there with a hairline fracture, frozen to stop the pain. It's another to play with the kind of injury Ching once got in the simplest possible way.

"This time I remember," said Dave Kerr. "Ching ran a silver into his finger in Boston. When it began to cause him some pain, he got me to work away at it with a pen knife and I think we got most of it out. I told him he should see a doctor but he waved that away — 'No need to see a doctor,' he'd say, so he didn't."

"He played in Boston. Then his hand began to swell up but we had to go on to Toronto. He didn't feel well so he didn't have anything to eat after we left Boston. On the late afternoon of the Toronto game I came into the room and there he was sitting with his hand all swelled up and a lump under his armpit. It was a terrible-looking mess and I was really alarmed."

"I've been trying to get hold of Lester Patrick," he told me. "I don't think I can play tonight with this thing — but I've been calling all over and I can't find him."

"It looked so bad that I called the Toronto club doctor. He came up to see Ching. There were no wonder drugs in those days. Ching could hardly bear to have the arm touched. He told Ching that he shouldn't play that night. But in a little while Lester Patrick came into the room. 'What's this I hear about you not going to play tonight?' he said."

"We told him about the Toronto club doctor giving that advice. Lester just about exploded. 'Sure! He'd tell you not to play, to give Leafs a better chance.'"

"Look, Ching, you'll be okay to play. I'll just use you maybe five minutes or so. Give it a try and if it doesn't work, you can sit on the bench."

"As I said, Ching hadn't had anything to eat for two days. He complained about feeling weak, but we went downstairs and into a place and he told them to make him a malted milk and put a couple of eggs in it and he drank that."

"Well, it was a tight game. And of course, being tight, Lester left Ching out there a lot — certainly no less than if he'd been as healthy as a horse. It was 1-1 there in the third period when I'll be darned if a puck didn't hit Ott Heller's skate and go by me into the corner of the goal and give Leafs a 2-1 lead. With about seven or eight minutes to go there was a big pile-up in front of our net, with Ching and I both down, and I was just going to get up when he put his hand on me and held me. 'Stay down, Davey,' he said. 'I need the rest."

"We stayed down until he was ready to get up. Gee, he was in bad shape. Just about staggering. But there was a faceoff and he got the puck and started up the ice toward their defence. Hit one defence-man, bump, and that guy went down; hit the other, bump, and down the other went. And there was Ching in front of their goal with the puck. He picked a spot and shot it in — the tying goal. Then he skated back past the bench and Lester with that big grin of his, from ear to ear, and nobody knowing he had an arm right then that looked as if it needed sawing off."

Was there any doctor around after?

Davey laughed. "Not a one, then or later."

But Ching was okay?

"Healed up by himself," Davey said.

to be stewards of what we think. The worship service and program were conducted by Mr. Philip Conley. A skit entitled "Hasty Judgments" was acted, and a discussion on the dangers that could result was held.

In October the members went to the home of Mrs. Ernest Carr. The leader opened the meeting with the reading "The Lord is My Shepherd." This showed how that in many cases we are too busy to partake of all the blessings promised, Mrs. M. Curdy and Mrs. Holland conducted a worship service with hymns, prayers and meditation on Thanksgiving.

The stewardship talk by Mrs. Bush was on living the spirit of the communion. Each should do his part in keeping his part of the covenant of the sacrament. We can witness by being at church, by sharing fellowship with others, and with commenting on ideas, was on the Status of Women and was conducted by Evelyn Duffin. Three areas of this topic were read: Women and Education by Doris Wells, Security for the Elderly by Alta Carr, and The Young Man by Joan Bush. A general discussion then took place.

"They ignore scars which never felt a wound." But there are some factors which should be kept in mind.

We must never forget that when God created man, he created him perfect. Man was not created evil. He did, however, as a human being, have ability to obey or disobey God. Had man obeyed God there would never have been a problem. He would have lived with God and enjoyment of him and his creation. This is what God intended for man when he created him. In fact, however, the first man rebelled against God and every one of us has ratified that rebellion. "Therefore as sin came into the world through one man and death spread to all men because all men sinned" (Romans 5:12). The point we must keep in mind is that man is responsible for sin, not God.

There is a way out for men 1 John 1:9, says "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness."

The fifth meeting of the River Valley Dozers was held on Oct. 14 at 7 p.m.

The meeting opened with the 4-H pledge. The roll call was answered with characteristics of a good bedroom. The leaders helped the group make zippers to put on their pillows, and helped the girls make bedspreads.

The sixth meeting was opened with the 4-H pledge on Oct. 21 at 7 p.m. The minutes were read and business was discussed. The club was shown how to do mitre corners and how to measure for their waste baskets and lamp shades, whichever they were making.

The general tendency is to blame God for evil and suffering and to place on all responsibility for it to him.

There are no easy answers to this profound question. It is not one to be treated lightly or in a doctrinaire fashion. We might paraphrase a famous expression,

Head of Ontario Masons coming here

An event of significance in the life of Stirling Masons, takes place here Thursday evening, when the presiding Grand Master of Ontario, and a native of this area, pays an official visit to the local lodge.

The honor of having a local member become Grand Master is rare when the number of lodges and members is considered, and now that Most Wor. Bro. William K. Bailey is living in Toronto, it is even more unique that he should come back and visit his mother lodge.

Proceedings begin with a banquet in the IOOF hall at 7 p.m., where the usual program of toasts and social functions will be held. This will be followed by a regular lodge meeting in the Masonic Hall at 8 p.m.

STIRLING HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY

The Horticultural Society is sponsoring a bus trip to the Royal Winter Fair on Saturday, Nov. 13. Anyone interested, please call Mrs. Nix at 395-3616.

Gather up all stakes and poles and put them away where they will be handy when needed again. Look over all seeds gathered from the garden and see that they are free from visible pests or diseases; then put them in tight tin boxes correctly labeled to be kept in a dry place until spring.

Mrs. McGregor spoke of the Victoria League of which members and nonmembers may avail the use of when traveling abroad. She also enlightened the members of the work that is being done with regards to education and of the various bursaries and loans that are available to students furthering their education.

Mrs. Currie told of the national magazine "Echoes" which is a source of knowledge as to what chapters are doing across Canada. She also spoke on Public Relations, Citizenship and Junior Chapters. Junior chapters are being organized all across Ontario and now have a sizeable membership.

Miss Spry thanked all for their part in helping to make this conference so successful. Next year it is hoped that all will be present in Marmora to help them celebrate their 35th anniversary.

lar lodge meeting in the Masonic Hall at 8 p.m.

Arrangements for the visits have been made by Ralph Clements, master of Stirling Lodge No. 69, AF and AM.

Mr. Bailey was initiated into this lodge, but since his teaching career took him from the area, he also joined Stirling Lodge 620 in Scarborough. He attended school in Stirling.

The grand master comes from a Masonic family, as he has a brother in the eastern part of the province who is currently a district deputy grand master, while other members of the family are active in this area.

THANK YOU!

To my supporters I extend my thanks for your continued friendship. Your action at the polls last Thursday was most appreciated.

I think the four years ahead will be most exciting ones. It could quite well be that the focus of attention will swing to an even greater extent to Eastern Ontario. As the representative for Hastings I would like to assure every one in the riding that I will do my utmost to see that all residents share beneficially in the development of our area of the province.

To every resident of Hastings, I point out my position has not changed. I pledge my support and the goodwill of my office as your member of the provincial parliament to work in your best interest. I ask only that you make me aware of any problems as they arise.

Sincerely,

Clarke T. Rollins

TODAY'S CHILD

BY HELEN ALLEN

"An outdoor boy"

Grant is a most engaging eight-year-old with blue eyes, unruly blonde hair, fair skin, and a splash of freckles. Anglo-Saxon in descent, he is in good health. A heart murmur, described as "functional", is considered of no significance.

You can almost tell from looking at Grant that he is an outdoor boy. He loves camping, is keen on baseball and hockey, plays by preference in woods or water, and naturally collects all the kinds of creatures a boy can find in ditches and under stones.

Grant is a bit shy with adults and is popular with his schoolmates. He is in Grade 4. His standing last year was average, except for a bit of trouble with reading, and his teacher reports he was always pleasant and co-operative.

This young lad needs warm, relaxed parents in a home where he will receive encouragement without pressure. It would be best if he were the youngest in the family. To inquire about adopting Grant, please write to Today's Child, Department of Social and Family Services, Parliament Buildings, Toronto 182. For general adoption information, ask your Children's Aid Society.

ROBERT ANDERSON, Reeve

Dated this 27th day of October, 1971

St. Paul's Faith Unit

Thirty ladies attended the October 19 meeting of the Faith Unit of St. Paul's United Church Women. They were greeted at the door by Mrs. C. Summers.

The leader, Mrs. B. Stapley, opened with a quotation on "Living Out God's Thoughts". The hymn, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus", was followed by the General Thanksgiving Prayer in unison.

Business included the reading of the minutes, various reports, bazaar plans for November 2, and announcements, six hospital calls and 33 shut-in calls had been made during the month. Bales of clothing for overseas will be packed and sent to the Toronto depot on November 17.

A worship service was led by Mrs. Carman Fitchett with Mrs. C. Summers. The hymns, "All Things Bright and Beautiful" and "For the Beauty of the Earth", were sung. A Scripture passage which included the beatitudes was read from Matthew 5. Mrs. W. Fitchett sang a solo, "How Great Thou Art", accompanied by Mrs. H. West. Mrs. Summers gave a meditation on how, with God's power within us, our lives can be beautiful no matter where we are, in spite of negativity and discouragement. Just as the little flower blooming in the middle of a cold yard, the offering which included the special Fall Thank Offering - was collected by Mrs. Summers and Mrs. M. McMullen. Prayers were led by Mrs. Fitchett, closing with the Lord's Prayer in unison.

Mrs. H. West gave an interesting talk on Thanksgiving and Halloween customs, going back to their beginnings, and describing the feasting, parading, harvest displays, games, religious observances, and other customs associated with these October dates. This was followed by some discussion and comment from the members.

The meeting closed with the hymn, "Give Praise and Thanks Unto the Lord," and prayer led by Mrs. Clifford Clancy.

For the social hour, tables were tastefully decorated with fruit and flowers, and a tea was served by the hostesses, Mrs. C. Fitchett, Mrs. M. McMullen, Mrs. C. Summers, and Mrs. H. West. Thanks was expressed by Mrs. H. David.
